Mackinaw City Bank Robbed; $40,000 Taken

MACKINAW CITY (AP)—An estimated $40,000 was taken today in a robbery of the Mackinaw City branch of the Cheboygan Bank.

The bank's branch manager apparently walked in while the robbery was in progress and was bound and placed in the bank vault, State Police said. The manager said he saw only one robber.

Art Baker, bank president, said the robbery occurred about 8:30 a. m., before the bank had opened.

Sen. Proxmire Favors 'Flying Before Buying'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The acid test of the Pentagon's "fly before you buy" purchasing policy will be whether it is applied to aircraft contracts made during the past year, charges Sen. William D. Proxmire.

The Wisconsin Democrat, a frequent critic of defense spending, endorsed the new policy as a means to keep weapons costs reasonably close to estimates.

But, Proxmire added, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The question is whether the Pentagon will now comply with its own policy."

The new policy was announced by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird as the Senate opened debate on President Nixon's $20.6 billion military procurement budget. The Armed Services Committee has cut the request to $19.3 billion—a figure Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., says is the minimum the nation can afford in the interest of security.

"Several major new weapons programs have been started within the past year," Proxmire said. "Contracts have been awarded for four new aircraft programs: the F14 and F15 fighter aircraft, B1 anti-submarine aircraft and the B1A bomber."

"Will the Pentagon enforce its 'fly before you buy' aircraft procurement?" Proxmire asked. "Or have long-term contracts for both development and production already been entered into on the program's push forward during the past several months?"

Chicago Hit By Violence

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 2,000 young people battled police with rocks, bottles and baseball bats in anger at the interruption of a free rock music concert sponsored by the city to "bridge the generation gap."

Mobs overturned automobiles, set them ablaze and later streamed out of Grant Park into the downtown district, smashing windows and looting.

Three youths were shot and 63 other persons were injured, including 24 policemen. One policeman was stabbed and another beaten seriously.

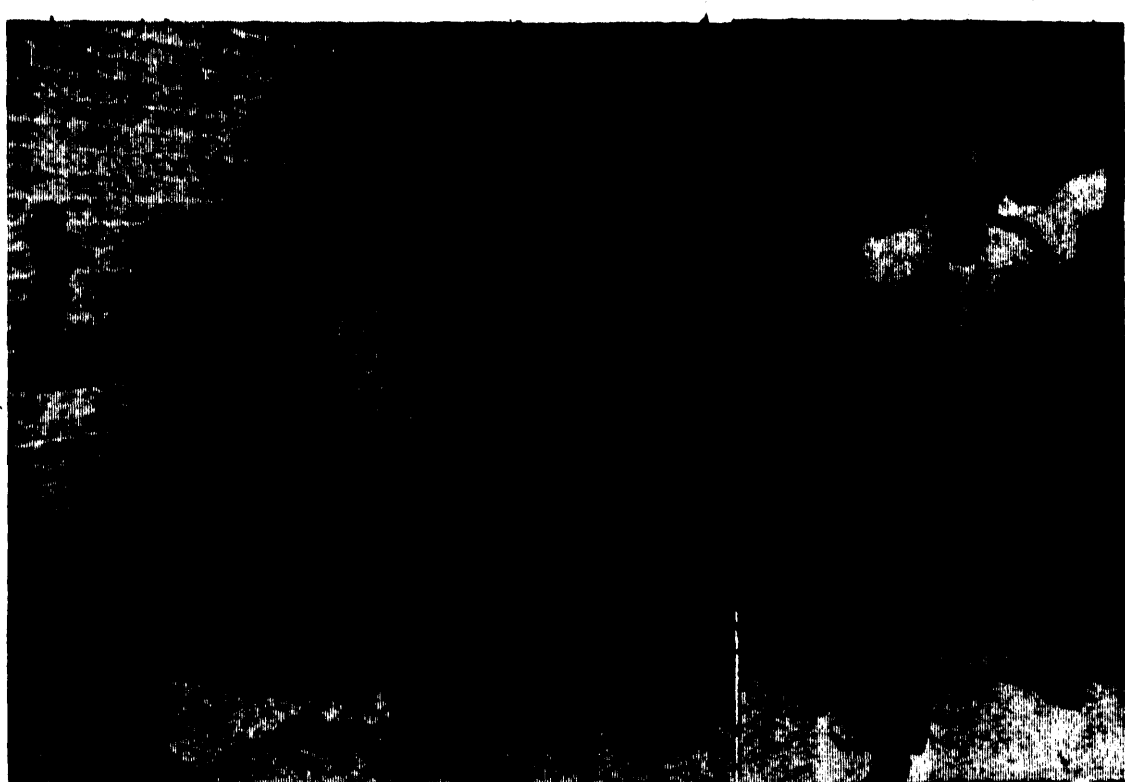

There were 148 arrests.

Outnumbered police and the rampaging youths battled back and forth over an athletic field for more than three hours in 90-degree late afternoon heat.

Tear gas failed to disperse the crowd. One group of youths tried to calm others, but to no avail. One squad car was overturned and two other cars burned. One of those on fire exploded, filling the air with black smoke. Rioters also set trash fires. Cars passing along Lake Shore and Balboa drives were pelted with rocks.

Inquisitive Russ Trawler Foils U.S. Missile Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Its first try at a submerged launching of the Poseidon missile foiled by an inquisitive Soviet trawler, the U.S. Navy plans to carry out the test next week even if snoopy onlookers appear again.

The milestone shot of the multi-warhead Poseidon had been scheduled Monday from the nuclear submarine James Madison.

But it was postponed because a Soviet fishing vessel with electronic gear probed to within 200 yards of the sub during a trial run last Friday, according to a reliable informant.

Firing "Deferred"

The Navy announced Saturday the firing had been "deferred" and that "additional preflight tests will be conducted and the test rescheduled, probably next month."

The informant, who was aboard a nearby surface support ship, said, "It came close, to within 200 yards. Someone in the Pentagon became a little apprehensive."

He said there was nothing wrong with the missile or support equipment.

No Confirmation

Defense Department officials declined to confirm or deny the report.

Sources said another attempt would be made to fire the missile next week even if the Soviet trawler is still in the area about 30 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

Peace Crusade Ruled Failure

TOKYO (AP)—Four years ago Morihito Matsuda had a thriving business, a small apartment house, a wife and two young sons.

Today he's broke and alone because of a peace crusade.

Matsuda spent $60,000 for full-page ads in the New York Times, the London Times, the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Sun-Times to publicize proposals which he said would end the Vietnam war and bring world peace.

To finance his crusade, Matsuda sold his apartment building and his business, a mail order firm which sold muscle-building equipment.

His wife, angered at his expenditures, left him, taking their sons.

"She got tired of my plans," Matsuda told an interviewer. "She said I was crazy."

But the 40-year-old man hasn't given up.

"I may never be rich again," he told an interviewer, "but I'll continue to try and do something for the good of mankind."

Matsuda now drives a truck for a living. He usually leaves his rented room at dawn and returns at night. He earns about 100,000 yen—$278—a month and saves part of it, hopeful that some day he can finance another peace crusade.

Matsuda's peace plan for Vietnam called for division of South Vietnam into two parts: a northern sector ruled by the Viet Cong and the southern part by the Saigon government.

House Favors Lifting Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has agreed to lift the veil of secrecy surrounding some of its most important votes, ending a tradition that has endured since 1789.

By voice vote, with only a few scattered no's, the House wrote into a legislative reorganization bill Monday a provision for recorded votes on amendments.

Votes on amendments now are taken under a teller system—borrowed from the British Parliament when Congress first convened in 1789. This system results in a vote total—but no indication of how individual members voted.

Under it, congressmen file past a teller who officially views them as anonymous and simply adds their votes to the running total.

There is a procedure by which one-fifth of the members can force a later roll call on adopted amendments, but not on amendments which were defeated.

The action, coming in the third week of debate on the bill, is the farthest-reaching of several antisecrecy moves. Earlier, the House opened committee meetings to television and radio coverage, required that votes taken in closed committee meetings be made public and banned the use of proxies in committee votes.

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., a sponsor of the voting change, noted that votes on such key issues as Cambodia and Vietnam policies, the supersonic transport, the multi-warhead MIRV and the antiballistic missile defense system had gone unrecorded.

Army Resuming Hearings Today In My Lai Case

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP)—The Army resumes preliminary hearings today for Capt. Ernest Medina, a Montrose, Colo., soldier held responsible for 102 killings during an alleged massacre at My Lai in 1968.

An Article 32 hearing, similar to a grand jury proceeding, was scheduled for 11 a.m. at Ft. McPherson, headquarters of the 3rd U.S. Army. It is the second such hearing for Medina in as many weeks.

Similar hearings led the Army to order five other soldiers to stand trial in courts-martial for their roles in the alleged massacre. They were members of the infantry company commanded by Medina when it swept My Lai.

Four of the five have appealed for the civil courts to intervene, however.

Davis Turns On City Officials In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Benjamin O. Davis Jr., who quit as the city's safety director says, "The mayor and administration continue not to give me support for programs that I required and continue to provide support and comfort to enemies of law enforcement."

Davis took the job last February after retirement from the Air Force as a lieutenant general, highest rank ever held by a Negro U.S. military man. Mayor Carl B. Stokes also is a Negro.

Davis, 57, said Monday that matters came to a head last Thursday when there were marches and speeches by black militants commemorating a 1968 shootout between police and Negro activists in the predominantly Negro Glenville area.

"There is more to it than that," the general said in a television interview.

"There are lots of elements in this city very strongly opposed to me and to the police, and as long as they receive support you won't have law enforcement in this city."

Davis also said, "The enemies of law enforcement that I am referring to are not holdup men or narcotics pushers. If you are able to think of other enemies of law enforcement in the city, that's up to you."

Chlorine Blaze Hospitalizes 12

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Deadly chlorine gas set free by a fire in a chemical warehouse sent 11 firemen and a civil defense policeman to the hospital. More than 1,200 persons were evacuated from an area half a mile square Monday night as the flames melted safety valves off 150-pound cylinders containing the chlorine.

The warehouse was destroyed.

Israel Bit Reluctant To Okay Cease-Fire

JERUSALEM (AP)—Indications are mounting that Israel's government will agree reluctantly and with conditions to the 90-day cease-fire proposed by the United States to get Middle East peace talks under way again. But local press reports said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan is considering resigning if the cabinet accepts the American proposal.

Dayan "Not Enthusiastic"

A Defense Ministry spokesman termed the reports "rumors," but he admitted, "Dayan is not enthusiastic about the U.S. proposal."

The reports said Dayan had expressed misgivings because the U.S. plan speaks of Israeli withdrawal from the Arab lands captured in the 1967 war. Dayan believes that Israel's security depends on its retaining the Gaza Strip, the Golan Heights taken from Syria, and a coastal strip along the Sinai desert to the Strait of Tiran, the key to Israel's southern water route to East Africa and Asia.

Meeting Scheduled

Premier Golda Meir and her cabinet had scheduled another meeting today to discuss their reply to the proposal, but it was postponed for 24 hours to allow "further political clarifications," a government spokesman said. The first cabinet debate on the plan was Sunday. Mrs. Meir may reply to Washington Wednesday night in a speech to the Knesset, the Israel parliament.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon went on record Monday night in favor of acceptance. Israel's first ranking minister to do so publicly.

Seeks Acceptance

"Even if there are differences of opinion between the U.S. and Israel," Allon told a group of high school newspaper editors, "when the government of the United States takes such an initiative, it appears to me that we should accept it, even if we are not completely satisfied with all the details."

Allon's stand was considered particularly significant because he is a member of the cabinet's foreign affairs and security committee, along with Mrs.

Meir, Dayan and Foreign Minister Abba Eban. The committee formulates Israel's foreign policy.

Sources close to the government said a majority of the cabinet now is ready to accept the U.S. proposal with some reservations.

Egypt and Jordan, the other two principals, already have accepted the plan. Syria and Iraq, whose endorsements were not requested by U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, have condemned it, and the Palestinian guerrilla organizations have vowed to continue fighting in spite of any cease-fire. In its acceptance Jordan reportedly said it could not force the commandos to comply.

ABA To Help Screen Future Court Choices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration has reversed its policy and agreed to submit the names of potential Supreme Court nominees to the American Bar Association for an investigation of their qualifications.

The new system, proposed by top ABA officials and approved by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, gives the organized bar a chance to advise the administration against naming a man found unfit professionally for the high bench.

However, Lawrence E. Walsh, chairman of the ABA's standing committee on the federal judiciary and a vigorous proponent of the change, said this would not give the association "a veto power."

Outlining the plan at a news conference Monday at the Justice Department, Walsh said Mitchell would not be bound by the ABA investigation in making a final recommendation to President Nixon.

Still, the ABA's role in picking people for the high court obviously will be larger. Said Walsh of Mitchell: "He doesn't want to be told someone is good if he is, in fact, not."

The administration has not consulted the ABA before making its nominations for the high court, though it has sought ABA assistance on other federal judgeships.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Accounting Office says tighter controls still are needed for the channeling of U.S. Agency for International Development funds into the military and civil budgets of South Vietnam.

A House subcommittee found in 1966 that the handling of monies by the AID mission in Vietnam was inadequate.

The GAO's follow-up report Monday said improvements have been made, but "further strengthening is needed. Controls and procedures... would generally not detect or prevent improper payments by government of Vietnam personnel, such as payments for unauthorized activities or for padded payrolls."

The report noted, however, that the AID mission has increased its participation in formulation of South Vietnam's civil budget and had earmarked funds for specific programs.

It criticized the mission for releasing large sums for civil activities before the cash was needed, and sometimes on the basis of unreliable South Vietnam government reports.

It also said the mission had made few post audits, relying instead upon understaffed South Vietnamese audit groups.

The report noted that AID had made about $629.7 million available for support of South Vietnam budgets from 1965-68.

Lipstick, Powderpuffs Space Items Of Future?

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Five women who lived two weeks on the bottom of the sea have increased the odds that lipstick and powderpuffs one day will be standard equipment aboard American spaceships.

But space agency officials caution women's "lib" groups not to get their hopes too high, because it will be eight or nine years before a female flies in a U.S. spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans late in this decade to have space stations orbiting the earth with as many as 50 persons aboard.

Must Be Qualified

That's when women will play a role. But they must be qualified in a medical or scientific field.

The question of women in space came up in Washington Monday when five female scientists and technicians received awards as the first woman team to live and work underwater.

Their undersea stay from July 6 to July 20 was part of a program called Teklite II in which 17 teams, 16 of them men, are taking turns at long submersions in warm water of Great Lakes Bay in the Virgin Islands.

Marine Life Explored

They lived in a dwelling submerged 50 feet and made frequent trips outside in diving gear to explore marine life.

Project manager for the female team was Richard Sprince of NASA.

Sprince said "we've got to start looking in that direction" when asked whether NASA would consider bringing women into the astronaut program.

He said the women worked as efficiently as men on Teklite II.

A small group of American women have argued for dispatching astronauts since the Russians sent the world's only spacewoman, Valentina Tereshkova, into orbit for three days in 1962.

Many U.S. space observers note, however, that the space ship used then was totally automatic and say the Soviet Union probably sent Valentina up more for propaganda than technical gain.

Up to now, NASA's position has been that it's not that women can't learn to fly in space, but that space is still a pioneering venture for which man is more suited.

A woman, officials say, can always use her prerogative to change her mind and get married after NASA has invested several hundred thousand dollars and a lot of time in her training.

Favors Women On Trip

Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, says it would be nice to have women along on extended flights such as a two-year mission to Mars.

But he cautions, "They've got to be able to do useful work and contribute to the mission, and you certainly can't have just one woman among a lot of men."

Torture Described

Russians Have Way To Handle Dissenters

NEW YORK (AP)—One describes torture, another death, while a third speaks of revolution. These were the top voices of Soviet political dissidents heard Monday.

The tapes were brought to the United States by recently expelled CBS correspondent William Cole for radio broadcast this week Monday through Friday and telecast today at 10 p.m. EDT.

Torture Described

On one tape, Vladimir Borzovsky, 27, an intellectual who spent six years in camps, prisons and insane asylums, describes a torture in which a person is rolled head to foot in wet canvas.

"As the canvas began to dry out, it would get tighter and tighter and make the patient feel even worse. There were medical men present while it was taking place who made sure that the patient did not lose consciousness."

He said commitments to asylums are frequently made to

Nixon Will Hold News Conference

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—President Nixon will hold a news conference in Los Angeles Thursday night—his first live, televised session with news men outside Washington since taking office.

Mackinaw City Bank Robbed; $40,000 Taken

Inquisitive Russ Trawler Foils U.S. Missile Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— Its first try at a submerged launching of the Poseidon missile foiled by an inquisitive Soviet trawler, the U.S. Navy plans to carry out the test next week even if snoopy onlookers appear again.

The milestone shot of the multi-warhead Poseidon had been scheduled Monday from the nuclear submarine James Madison.

But it was postponed because a Soviet fishing vessel with electronic gear probed to within 200 yards of the sub during a trial run last Friday, according to a reliable informant.

No Confirmation

Defense Department officials declined to confirm or deny the report.

Sources said another attempt would be made to fire the missile next week even if the Soviet trawler is still in the area about 30 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

The Russian ship was well outside territorial limits, and such trawlers are a common sight off Cape Kennedy whenever an important missile or manned space shot is conducted.

The trawlers have shadowed Polaris nuclear subs in the past, but never came as close as last Friday, sources said.

Sonar Tests Likely

It was speculated the trawler was testing sonar equipment on the submerged Madison and gathering information on the nature of the exhaust from the sub's nuclear power plant. Such data could help in developing detection systems.

The Poseidon launch is to be the first from a submarine for this advanced weapon which is to replace the Polaris rocket starting early next year.

The Madison is the first of 31 Polaris subs refitted for the Poseidon, which packs a reentry vehicle (MIRV) capable of delivering up to 10 nuclear warheads on separate targets.

He said the women worked as efficiently as men on Tekite II. A small group of American women have argued for distaff astronauts since the Russians sent the world's only spacewoman, Valentina Tereshkova, into orbit for three days in 1962. Many U.S. space observers note, however, that the space ship used then was totally automatic and say the Soviet Union probably sent Valentina up more for propaganda than technical gain.

Up to now, NASA's position has been that it's not that women can't learn to fly in space, but that space is still a pioneering venture for which man is more suited.

A woman, officials say, can always use her prerogative to change her mind and get married after NASA has invested several hundred thousand dollars and a lot of time in her training.

Favors Women On Trip

Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, says it would be nice to have women along on extended flights such as two year mission to Mars.

But, he cautions, "They've got to be able to do useful work and contribute to the mission, and you certainly can't have just one woman among a lot of men."

Torture Described

Russians Have Way To Handle Dissenters

NEW YORK (AP)—One describes torture, another death, while a third speaks of revolution. These were the taped voices of Soviet political dissidents heard Monday.

The tapes were brought to the United States by recently expelled CBS correspondent William Cole for radio broadcast this week Monday through Friday and telecast today at 11 p.m. EDT.

Torture Described

On one tape, Vladimir Bukovsky, 27, an intellectual who spent six years in camps, prisons and insane asylums, describes a torture in which a person is rolled head to foot in wet canvas.

"As the canvas began to dry out, it would get tighter and tighter and make the patient feel even worse. There were medical men present while it was taking place who made sure that the patient did not lose consciousness."

He said commitments to asylums are frequently made to isolate dissidents.

On another tape, smuggled from the concentration camp where he is held, writer Alexander Ginsburg charged that 16 political prisoners recently perished for lack of medical care.

He said there was only one doctor in his camp and that "everyone goes in danger of his life."

Andre Amalrik, in a message taped just before his arrest by the KGB—State Security Committee—spoke of revolution in the Soviet Union.

Lack Of Good Sense

"What may lead to a revolution is the utter lack of good sense in the upper class, which is always trying to avoid any change," said the author of "Can the USSR Survive Until 1984?"

"Gradually, he said, 'some people at all events begin to have the idea that all these local smaller problems have their origins in the imperfections of the political system under which we live'."

Nixon Will Hold News Conference

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—President Nixon will hold a news conference in Los Angeles Thursday night—his first live, televised session with news men outside Washington since taking office.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, in announcing the news conference Monday, said its exact site had not been determined.

The 11 p.m. EDT question-and-answer meeting with newsmen will enable citizens in the West to see and hear a conference in prime evening broadcast time.

Gromyko, Scheel Confer In Private

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Walter Scheel of West Germany conferred privately for two hours today on the proposed Moscow-Bonn nonaggression treaty.

A West German spokesman described the talk as "intensive and businesslike."

Beginning Band To Open Aug. 28

The Summer Beginning Band schedule for the Escanaba Area Public Schools was announced today by Dave Laakso, director.

The Beginning Band period opens Aug. 3 and will close Aug. 28. The daily schedule: Clarinets and cornets—9 to 9:45; Saxophones, trombones and baritone—9:45 to 10:30; Tubas and French horns—10:30 to 11:15; Drums and euphoniums—11:15 to 12 noon.

All classes will meet in the music rooms of the Senior High School. The fee for summer classes is $7.

Robert L. Clayton will retire from the U.S. Forest Service July 31 following 36 years of service as a forester and recreation planner. Twenty-two of those years were spent on the National Forests of the Upper Peninsula.

Clayton earned a degree in forestry and recreation from Syracuse University in 1928 and began his career with the Forest Service in 1934. His first assignment was at Munising, then the headquarters of the National Forests of the Upper Peninsula. In 1934 when the Civilian Conservation Corps was reorganizing the cut-over lands of Michigan, Clayton was a pioneer in helping to make the Upper Peninsula a leader in tourism and outdoor recreation. He developed the first comprehensive outdoor recreation plan for the National Forests. This plan led to the development of many of the present National Forest recreation areas. Many of the earlier sites which he planned are popular today. Among them are Camp 7 Lake, Brevort Lake, Petes Lake, Soldiers Lake and Island Lake.

The CCC Camps were closed following the beginning of World War II. Funds for recreation were curtailed and the National Forest program greatly reduced. Clayton then accepted a position with the City of Escanaba and served the city until July 1957 as superintendent of parks and forestry and as city planning director.

During his period of employment with the city Escanaba became one of the most attractive in the Upper Peninsula. Among Clayton's accomplishments were the drafting of a master plan, revision of the zoning ordinance and the planning and organizing of the parks and street tree program. To a large degree the Ludington Park complex is the result of Clayton's far-sighted planning.

When the Forest Service inaugurated its Operation Outdoors program in 1957, Clayton returned to the Hiawatha National Forest. Rehabilitation of the older recreation areas began and new areas were planned following an intensive survey and inventory of potential sites.

The Claytons were recently honored at a retirement party held in their honor at the Terrace Supper Club. Many fellow workers of both the City of Escanaba and the Hiawatha National Forest were present. Bob and his wife, Alma, plan to stay in Escanaba and will spend much of their time enjoying their second home on Stonor Lake.

The forest fire hazard is very high in most sections of the Escanaba District and the public is asked to use extreme caution, advises Ed Vetort, Escanaba, District fire supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources.

"Tinder dry" is the way Vetort described conditions in the district that includes Delta, Marquette and the west half of Alger counties.

The recent rainfall was so slight in total precipitation that it reduced the fire danger for only a short time. Hot sun and drying winds quickly pushed the danger rating back up again.

"Only in some parts of Marquette County was there a good amount of rain to cut the hazard down," the fire supervisor said.

He asked the public for cooperation in the emergency, appealing for woodsmen, tourists, fishermen, berry pickers and others to "be careful" with fire in the woods.

Burning permits are required before any open burning is done and persons using incinerators are asked to check them to make sure they are properly covered to prevent sparks that would start fires. Burning permits may be applied for at the district office.

The DNR fire spotters are on the alert, the DNR plane is flying daily searching for "smokes" that mean the start of a fire in the woodlands, and persons observing smoke or fire in forest or grasslands are asked to notify the nearest DNR officer or other authority.

Two Passengers Slightly Hurt In One-Car Accident

Two passengers in a car driven by Gayle Noel, 19, Rte. 1, Cornell, received minor injuries in a one-car accident on Monday, according to State Police. Officers said Linnea Wentworth, 62, Cornell, and Laure Anderson, 9, Cornell, were slightly injured and sought their own treatment in the accident which occurred on County Rd. 416 just west of County Rd. D-19.

Gayle Noel was reportedly eastbound on County Rd. 416 when she lost control of her car on a slippery spot on the road, ran off the road and struck a post, police said.

The accident occurred about 10 a.m., police said, and no tickets were issued.

District Forest Fire Risk High

The forest fire hazard is very high in most sections of the Escanaba District and the public is asked to use extreme caution, advises Ed Vetort, Escanaba, District fire supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources.

"Tinder dry" is the way Vetort described conditions in the district that includes Delta, Marquette and the west half of Alger counties.

The recent rainfall was so slight in total precipitation that it reduced the fire danger for only a short time. Hot sun and drying winds quickly pushed the danger rating back up again.

"Only in some parts of Marquette County was there a good amount of rain to cut the hazard down," the fire supervisor said.

He asked the public for cooperation in the emergency, appealing for woodsmen, tourists, fishermen, berry pickers and others to "be careful" with fire in the woods.

Burning permits are required before any open burning is done and persons using incinerators are asked to check them to make sure they are properly covered to prevent sparks that would start fires. Burning permits may be applied for at the district office.

The DNR fire spotters are on the alert, the DNR plane is flying daily searching for "smokes" that mean the start of a fire in the woodlands, and persons observing smoke or fire in forest or grasslands are asked to notify the nearest DNR officer or other authority.

Indian Uprising Disrupts Pageant

L'ANSE—The second annual Baraga County Historical Pageant was disrupted briefly Sunday by a group of Indians who contended that the $10,000 production depicted Indians as cruel, ignorant savages.

The protesters also complained that Indians in the cast had to wear makeup to look more "Indianish."

About 25 Indians from the Great Lakes Indian Youth Alliance of Lansing, Mich., and the American Indian Movement (AIM) of Minneapolis, Minn., halted Sunday's performance for a few minutes by clapping and singing in front of the grandstand during the national anthem.

One of the protesters was removed by state police, but the group quit down when it was promised that it could take the stage later.

Saturday's performance of the pageant, which depicts the arrival of fur traders and Bishop Frederic Baraga in Upper Michigan, was canceled after someone cut the power at Kurwood Park here.

At the end of Sunday's performance, Dennis Banks, AIM chairman and a member of a special Presidential Task Force on Indians, told the audience of 2,500 that the aim of the demonstrators was not to stop the pageant, but to tell whites the true story of Indian exploitation.

"Missionaries played a major role in having these people sign away thousands and thousands of acres," Banks said.

He also said that "next month when we meet with the president of the United States, we are going to have to tell him that there is discrimination, that there is racism... still prevailing here in the great State of Michigan."

Earlier Sunday, the Indian groups held a news conference denying that they were responsible for the cancellation of Saturday's performance.

Nursing Home Gets Medicaid For Those Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government investigators have found that some nursing homes in California were getting medicare money for patients who were dead.

The General Accounting Office said Monday it found in one out of every 12 cases that payments were continued to the nursing homes after the death or discharge of patients.

The excess payments continued as long as three weeks, the report said.

The GAO, Congress' watchdog on government spending, examined 10 nursing homes in the Los Angeles, Fresno, Santa Clara and Oakland areas. The nursing homes were not identified.

In 12 of 76 cases checked, the investigators found homes receiving payments under both medicare and medicare for the same patients.

Indian Uprising Disrupts Pageant

L'ANSE—The second annual Baraga County Historical Pageant was disrupted briefly Sunday by a group of Indians who contended that the $10,000 production depicted Indians as cruel, ignorant savages.

The protesters also complained that Indians in the cast had to wear makeup to look more "Indianish."

About 25 Indians from the Great Lakes Indian Youth Alliance of Lansing, Mich., and the American Indian Movement (AIM) of Minneapolis, Minn., halted Sunday's performance for a few minutes by clapping and singing in front of the grandstand during the national anthem.

One of the protesters was removed by state police, but the group quieted down when it was promised that it could take the stage later.

Saturday's performance of the pageant, which depicts the arrival of fur traders and Bishop Frederic Baraga in Upper Michigan, was canceled after someone cut the power at Kurwood Park here.

At the end of Sunday's performance, Dennis Banks, AIM chairman and a member of a special Presidential Task Force on Indians, told the audience of 2,500 that the aim of the demonstrators was not to stop the pageant, but to tell whites the true story of Indian exploitation.

Eagle's Fate

Our forefathers considered the American bald eagle such a noble creature that it became our national emblem. The bird is pictured on the nation's official seal as a symbol of strength with the olive branch of peace clutched in one fist of talons and the arrows of war in the other.

But in reality the bald eagle is such a fragile organism that it hovers now on the brink of extinction. Although protected by federal law, eagles frequently have been killed by thoughtless men and boys armed with rifles or shotguns. More recently, scores of eagles have been the victims of DDT poisoning. Others have lost their lives in unusual accidents, like the one that died near the shores of Manistique Lake last July 4.

Lloyd G. Schemenauer of Newberry, district game biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, investigated the incident. He interviewed a witness who told him that a vacationing fisherman left his rod and reel at a dock on Manistique Lake while he went to his resort cabin. Attached to the line was live sucker bait that lay in the water alongside the dock. When the fisherman returned to the dock, the rod, reel, line and bait were missing.

Some time later, an eagle was found hanging dead in a nearby tree. The rod and reel were located some distance away, and the fishing line extended from the reel to the carcass of the eagle.

The line was severed. The bird fell to the ground. It was obvious that the eagle had spotted the hooker sucker lying in the water and had carried it off in its talons to the tree. In the process, however, it had become fatally entangled in the fishing line.

Further questioning by Schemenauer revealed that the carcass had been taken to a dump. The biologist decided to salvage the specimen and drove to the dump.

"We attempted to find the specimen while pressurized cans exploded around us like grenades," Schemenauer reported. "All that was found was the odor of burning feathers."

An ignominious end to our national emblem on the Day of our Independence.

The Family Lawyer

Tax Free Dollars
 Your neighbor carelessly backs his car into your fence, causing $200 worth of damage. Acknowledging his fault, he hands you a check for $200. Do you have to pay income tax on this amount?

No, because it is not really "income" at all. The money merely makes you "come out even." Now, suppose he refuses to pay and you have to sue him for the money. Then too, if you win the $200, it is tax free. Again, it simply makes you come out even.

This principle has wide application, notably in personal injury cases. Accident victims sometimes win verdicts involving large sums of money. To the extent that the money is compensation for their injuries, it is not subject to income tax.

In fact, the injury need not even be physical at all. In one case, a man won $100,000 for defamation of character. The government tried to collect income tax on this sum, but a court ruled that it was not taxable. The court said the purpose of the money was just to "make the plaintiff whole."

And in another case, the money that a girl won in a breach of promise suit was likewise held not taxable, since it was compensating her only for the harm she had suffered. However a verdict may also include "punitive" damages for the plaintiff's injury but to punish the defendant for his wrongful conduct. On this portion of the verdict, a tax may indeed be collected.

For example:
 In another defamation case, the plaintiff won $1,000 — $650 for the damage done to his reputation, and $350 to teach the defendant a lesson. The $650 was held tax free, but the plaintiff did have to pay income tax on the $350. This was considered income because, in spite of the harm he had suffered, he came out $350 richer than he had been before.

Dickinson Homes, Inc., the newest industry in the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area, held a grand opening at its plant and model home site recently. The modular home manufacturing concern has completed its model home and other prototypes and is now geared for production.

Clarence B. Forslund, a member of the Goebic Community College Board of Trustees for the past four years, was elected chairman of the board. Forslund, who was previously treasurer, succeeds Rutger Erickson for the two-year term as board chairman.

Latest report from Laurel, Md., is that Oscar, the bald eagle, is doing fine and gaining weight on a diet of tasty hamburgers. Oscar was found limping across U.S. 2 in Iron County when rescued by personnel from the Department of Natural Resources, nursed until well enough to be taken to a national sanctuary and released there.

Construction of the main portion of the Cultural Center building on the National Finnish-American Festival's 11-acre site on U.S. 2 near Ironwood is progressing rapidly, according to Arne H. Wicklund, president of the festival. "By this fall, we will have the main portion of the 40 by 40-foot building enclosed," Wicklund said. The festival is in the initial phase of constructing what eventually will be an authentic Finnish village, reminiscent of a farm at the turn of the century, complete with farm buildings, including cabins, a flour mill, a shingle mill, public saunas and a lake. "We feel certain that once the entire village is completed it will be a major tourist attraction on the Circle Route tour," Wicklund said.

DRAG RACE

Removal Of Education From Politics Needed

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

There is a curious flavor to the battle of the payoffs in Washington.

President Richard Nixon bent over backward to give Sen. Strom Thurmond a special trade concession in the form of an import quota on textiles. Such a quota flies in the face of everything that Nixon really believes about trade policy. But if Nixon felt he could hold Strom Thurmond in line with a mere economic concession, he failed to reckon with the South Carolina Senator's generally non-economic orientation.

Thurmond is a figure from the age of Sir Walter Scott's Waverley novels; he thinks in terms of loyalties, not economic categories, and he gave his word at the Miami Beach convention in 1968 to support Nixon in full expectation that the sensibilities of his region would be considered when it came to questions of detail and tempo in pushing the school integration program.

Nixon, having thrown his sop to Thurmond in the form of the textile quota, proceeded, in the time-honored way of the political pragmatist, to make a counter-balancing payoff to Whitney Young, the executive director of the National Urban League.

By holding out to Young the promise that the Internal Revenue Service would deprive white-only private schools in the South of their tax-exempt status, Nixon, in effect, purchased a limited amount of peace on the racial front.

He had not succeeded in extracting an apology from Bishop Stephen Spottswood, the chairman of the board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), who had called the Nixon Administration anti-Negro. However, the Whitney Young promise to work for change "within the system," which happens to be dominated by the Republican Party, did much to retract the sting from the Spottswood charges.

The trouble with trying to rule through payoffs is that appetites are always whetted thereby.

Thurmond, with the textile quota in his pocket, is already asking the White House to come through with the second installment of what he conceives to have been an ironclad pledge. And Whitney Young will be around tomorrow to insist that his proposed "domestic Marshall Plan" for eliminating the ghettos must be enacted into law.

There is no way of bypassing the conflict. However, it could be softened if Nixon would only listen to some of the libertarians among his advisers who have been trying to take education out of the realm of politics.

TECHNOLOGICAL EXPERT

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — The (Presbyterian) Church of Scotland has decided to employ a technological expert at a salary of 3000 pounds ($7200) a year to "pioneer relations between the church and the new world of computers." The Rev. George Wilkie, Industrial Organizer, said the appointment grew out of a recent conference of industrialist trade unionists and churchmen which recommended deeper involvement of the Church in Britain's industrial life.

The Milton Friedman proposal to return educational tax money to heads of families in the form of vouchers that would be cashable at any school would restore a freedom of association calculated to smooth some of Strom Thurmond's ruffled feathers, yet it would not hurt the integration of public school systems. The government would be saying, in effect, "Look, we are not discriminating in our own schools, which are subject to the 'equal rights' clause of the Constitution. On the other hand, we are not forcing a politicalized education on anybody."

The government could require that certain educational standards be met in both public and private schools as a condition of the voucher system. Anyone who would be willing to pay something extra beyond the voucher money for really superior schools would be free to do so.

But there would be no reason to force a head-count on last-ditchers of any type. In the calmer atmosphere that would result from a good voucher system, education could only improve.

The free use of vouchers is not the idea of Christopher Jencks, who would use a voucher system to give the government an ideological stranglehold on education everywhere. But the Jencks restatement of Milton Friedman's voucher plan is a perversion of the original.

The Friedman plan, if I understand it correctly, would balance the right of equal access to public facilities against the right of free choice and free association in the use of private facilities. The balance, if accepted, would not infringe the Constitution.

Moreover, it would get the Nixon Administration off the dubious constitutional hook that is presented by the current IRS ruling against tax exemption for one set of schools.

All private school systems practice discrimination of one type or another. The parochial schools have religious preferences. If tax exemption is to be denied one private school, why should it be granted to the next?

There is no way out of the thorny thicket implied by this question unless we are prepared to take education out of politics.

Mergers, Acquisitions Hit New High In Late Sixties

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Matched with the Soaring Sixties, this decade has certainly begun as the Sober Seventies. Second thoughts abound. Some of the "accomplishments" of the sixties are in terrible shape. Some are being undone.

Diversification was the motto of hundreds of corporations on the go. Buy, merge, acquire, take over! Growth, action, glamor, excitement! The bigger company is more efficient, the more diversified is better protected from the vagaries of the marketplace.

Mergers Increase

As a group of mothers we would publicly like to commend the staff of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District speech and hearing summer program for the fine help given our children during the six-week session.

We owe a special thank you to Miss Pamela Clark and Miss Karen Suty, the speech therapists, who worked daily with our children.

We would also like to thank Davi Featheringill, Howard Ingle and Miss Sandra Rappaport for their time and wise counseling for the mothers on Wednesday afternoons. As a group, we mothers discussed speech and language problems related to our youngsters in our homes.

Once again, we wish to thank these people for a job well done.

served as such in the 1960s because the number of mergers and acquisitions rose from 1,361 in 1963 to more than 4,500 in 1969.

Some of these companies are now divesting in the name of efficiency. Doubts have arisen about the conglomerate concept; some of those hurt most in the present recession were those who had diversified the hardest. For a good part of the 1960s a propaganda barrage convinced much of America that the future of railroads was in mergers, and so many of them were permitted by regulatory agencies to join efforts.

Now the biggest merger of all, the Penn Central, has run into financial problems more serious than ever before. And railroads in general are in a precarious financial position.

Making possible many of the takeovers and mergers was the growth in institutional assets. They had the money and they were eager to invest it. The mutual funds, to cite one instance, rose from assets of less than $16 billion in 1960 to more than $50 billion in 1969. Money almost poured in over the transom and they had to get it into the market.

Plenty of Action
 They took a liking to performance, or stock action, and mergers provided plenty of action. They bid up prices of the merger makers. Conglomerates were

Ann Landers

Monterey Asking Name Be Restored

Dear Ann Landers: I live in Monterey and like Pericles of old, I must defend my city when it is attacked from within. I refer to the woman who signed her letter, "It Happened In Monterey." A more appropriate signature would have been, "It DIDN'T Happen In Monterey."

She described her marriage as "very satisfactory — without sex." She and her husband enjoy rummy and TV. Last year your readers think everyone in Monterey lives like that, let me assure you that Monterey is the Peyton Place of America — the Love Mecca of the Universe. A personal poll of our country club crowd revealed 8 out of 10 couples don't own a deck of cards and watch little or no TV. The weather is glorious and conducive to love making, both indoors and out. So, please, Ann, print the truth about Monterey and help restore its good name. — Eric Who Wants Equal Time

Dear Eric: Here's your equal time and now a word from your sponsor: the views represented in the above letter are not necessarily those of your newspaper, the Monterey Chamber of Commerce or this columnist.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Ugly Duckling" inspired me to write. As a grade schooler I was overweight and had a million freckles. Homely would have been a kind description. Like "Ugly Duckling," I, too, had a saint of a teacher. She sensed I was miserable and asked me to stay after school so we could talk. She told me to stop thinking of freckles as disfiguring because many people considered them wholesome, if not downright attractive. She encouraged me to lose weight. As for the boys who made cruel remarks, she said they were just trying to get my attention. "Smile and be pleasant," she advised. "Soon they'll be smiling back."

I took her advice and I will never be able to repay her. She changed my life. The teacher's name was Miss Thelma Ryan. Today she is known as Mrs. Richard Nixon. — C. L. of Whittier

Dear C. L.: Many thanks for a heartwarming letter. It was good of you to share your story.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old boy who is normal in every way — but still I'm a freak. My problem is that I'm nearly seven feet tall and still growing. My mother is 6'4" and my Dad is 6'1". When the three of us go anywhere together you'd think the circus was in town. People gawk and make rude remarks. I sometimes wonder if they think we are blind and deaf. A normal person can't imagine what it's like to be turned down by driver education because of being too large for the training car. I wonder how they would like it if their friends' parents were afraid to let them sit down in the living room for fear of breaking the furniture.

A few months ago I started to play hockey on our school team. I was sitting on the bench and a cute chick came over. When I stood up, she gasped "Oh no!" This is the story of my life.

What's the solution? — Mount Everest

Dear M. E.: Walk tall, fella. Somewhere there's a lovely tall, tall female who shares your problem. She'll love every inch of you.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Attached to the line was live sucker bait that lay in the water alongside the dock. When the fisherman returned to the dock, the rod, reel, line and bait were missing.

Some time later, an eagle was found hanging dead in a nearby tree. The rod and reel were located some distance away, and the fishing line extended from the reel to the carcass of the eagle.

The line was severed. The bird fell to the ground. It was obvious that the eagle had spotted the hooker sucker lying in the water and had carried it off in its talons to the tree. In the process, however, it had become fatally entangled in the fishing line.

Further questioning by Schemenauer revealed that the carcass had been taken to a dump. The biologist decided to salvage the specimen and drove to the dump.

"We attempted to find the specimen while pressurized cans exploded around us like grenades," Schemenauer reported. "All that was found was the odor of burning feathers."

An ignominious end to our national emblem on the Day of our Independence.

Tax Free Dollars

Your neighbor carelessly backs his car into your fence, causing $200 worth of damage. Acknowledging his fault, he hands you a check for $200. Do you have to pay income tax on this amount?

No, because it is not really "income" at all. The money merely makes you "come out even."

Now, suppose he refuses to pay and you have to sue him for the money. Then too, if you win the $200, it is tax free. Again, it simply makes you come out even.

This principle has wide application, notably in personal injury cases. Accident victims sometimes win verdicts involving large sums of money. To the extent that the money is compensation for their injuries, it is not subject to income tax.

In fact, the injury need not even be physical at all. In one case, a man won $100,000 for defamation of character. The government tried to collect income tax on this sum, but a court ruled that it was not taxable. The court said the purpose of the money was just to "make the plaintiff whole."

And in another case, the money that a girl won in a breach of promise suit was likewise held not taxable, since it was compensating her only for the harm she had suffered.

However a verdict may also include "punitive" damages for the plaintiff's injury but to punish the defendant for his wrongful conduct. On this portion of the verdict, a tax may indeed be collected.

For example:

In another defamation case, the plaintiff won $1,000 — $650 for the damage done to his reputation, and $350 to teach the defendant a lesson. The $650 was held tax free, but the plaintiff did have to pay income tax on the $350. This was considered income because, in spite of the harm he had suffered, he came out $350 richer than he had been before.

Dickinson Homes, Inc., the newest industry in the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area, held a grand opening at its plant and model home site recently. The modular home manufacturing concern has completed its model home and other prototypes and is now geared for production.

Clarence B. Forslund, a member of the Gogebic Community College Board of Trustees for the past four years, was elected chairman of the board. Forslund, who was previously treasurer, succeeds Rutger Erickson for the two-year term as board chairman.

Latest report from Laurel, Md., is that Oscar, the bald eagle, is doing fine and gaining weight on a diet of tasty hamburgers. Oscar was found limping across U.S. 2 in Iron County when rescued by personnel from the Department of Natural Resources, nursed until well enough to be taken to a national sanctuary and released there.

Construction of the main portion of the Cultural Center building on the National Finnish-American Festival's 11-acre site on U.S. 2 near Ironwood is progressing rapidly, according to Arne H. Wicklund, president of the festival. "By this fall, we will have the main portion of the 40 by 40-foot building enclosed," Wicklund said. The festival is in the initial phase of constructing what eventually will be an authentic Finnish village, reminiscent of a farm at the turn of the century, complete with farm buildings, including cabins, a flour mill, a shingle mill, public saunas and a lake. "We feel certain that once the entire village is completed it will be a major tourist attraction on the Circle Route tour," Wicklund said.

Removal Of Education From Politics Needed

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

There is a curious flavor to the battle of the payoffs in Washington.

President Richard Nixon bent over backward to give Sen. Strom Thurmond a special trade concession in the form of an import quota on textiles. Such a quota flies in the face of everything that Nixon really believes about trade policy. But if Nixon felt he could hold Strom Thurmond in line with a mere economic concession, he failed to reckon with the South Carolina Senator's generally non-economic orientation.

Thurmond is a figure from the age of Sir Walter Scott's Waverley novels; he thinks in terms of loyalties, not economic categories, and he gave his word at the Miami Beach convention in 1968 to support Nixon in full expectation that the sensibilities of his region would be considered when it came to questions of detail and tempo in pushing the school integration program.

Nixon, having thrown his sop to Thurmond in the form of the textile quota, proceeded, in the time-honored way of the political pragmatist, to make a counter-balancing payoff to Whitney Young, the executive director of the National Urban League.

By holding out to Young the promise that the Internal Revenue Service would deprive white-only private schools in the South of their tax-exempt status, Nixon, in effect, purchased a limited amount of peace on the racial front.

He had not succeeded in extracting an apology from Bishop Stephen Spottswood, the chairman of the board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), who had called the Nixon Administration anti-Negro. However, the Whitney Young promise to work for change "within the system," which happens to be dominated by the Republican Party, did much to extract the sting from the Spottswood charges.

The trouble with trying to rule through payoffs is that appetites are always whetted thereby.

Thurmond, with the textile quota in his pocket, is already asking the White House to come through with the second installment of what he conceives to have been an ironclad pledge. And Whitney Young will be around tomorrow to insist that his proposed "domestic Marshall Plan" for eliminating the ghettos must be enacted into law.

There is no way of bypassing the conflict. However, it could be softened if Nixon would only listen to some of the libertarians among his advisers who have been trying to take education out of the realm of politics.

TECHNOLOGICAL EXPERT

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) —The (Presbyterian) Church of Scotland has decided to employ a technological expert at a salary of 3000 pounds ($7200) a year to "pioneer relations between the church and the new world of computers." The Rev. George Wilkie, Industrial Organizer, said the appointment grew out of a recent conference of industrialist trade unionists and churchmen which recommended deeper involvement of the Church in Britain's industrial life.

The Milton Friedman proposal to return educational tax money to heads of families in the form of vouchers that would be cashable at any school would restore a freedom of association calculated to smooth some of Strom Thurmond's ruffled feathers, yet it would not hurt the integration of public school systems. The government would be saying, in effect, "Look, we are not discriminating in our own schools, which are subject to the 'equal rights' clause of the Constitution. On the other hand, we are not forcing a politicalized education on anybody."

The government could require that certain educational standards be met in both public and private schools as a condition of the voucher system. Anyone who would be willing to pay something extra beyond the voucher money for really superior schools would be free to do so.

But there would be no reason to force a head-count on last-ditchers of any type. In the calmer atmosphere that would result from a good voucher system, education could only improve.

Mergers, Acquisitions Hit New High In Late Sixties

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) Matched with the Soaring Sixties, this decade has certainly begun as the Sober Seventies. Second thoughts abound. Some of the "accomplishments" of the sixties are in terrible shape. Some are being undone.

Diversification was the motto of hundreds of corporations on the go. Buy, merge, acquire, take over! Growth, action, glamor, excitement! The bigger company is more efficient, the more diversified is better protected from the vagaries of the marketplace.

Mergers Increase
If these weren't truths they considered glamorous, and price-earnings ratios rose astonishingly.

Now some of those mutual funds have suffered losses in the first months of the 1970s that are far worse than the market as a whole.

To talk now of performance is embarrassing. To seek action is considered foolish, and many of the funds are keeping big amounts of their assets in cash rather than in securities.

Expansion Halted

Of course, the most obvious change from the soaring sixties is the abrupt halt to the economic expansion. Everyone knows it, if not from a decline in fortunes then from a sense of distinct change in atmosphere.

There is a more reflective mood now. Maybe lessons are being learned as America soberly reflects on the Soaring Sixties.

Expansion Halted

The free use of vouchers is not the idea of Christopher Jencks, who would use a voucher system to give the government an ideological stranglehold on education everywhere. But the Jencks restatement of Milton Friedman's voucher plan is a perversion of the original.

The Friedman plan, if I understand it correctly, would balance the right of equal access to public facilities against the right of free choice and free association in the use of private facilities. The balance, if accepted, would not infringe the Constitution.

Moreover, it would get the Nixon Administration off the dubious constitutional hook that is presented by the current IRS ruling against tax exemption for one set of schools.

All private school systems practice discrimination of one type or another. The parochial schools have religious preferences. If tax exemption is to be denied one private school, why should it be granted to the next?

There is no way out of the thorny thicket implied by this question unless we are prepared to take education out of politics.

The bidding:

Opening lead—two of clubs. Although a declarer does not see the defenders' cards, he is often in position to make a highly educated guess about how they are distributed. This, in turn, helps him to play a hand to the best advantage.

South is in five diamonds and East-West cast the A-K of clubs and continue with a club. Declarer ruffs and is faced with the problem of avoiding a spade loser. He realizes that the contract is cold if the spades are divided 3-3, so all his thoughts are devoted to combating the more likely 4-2 division.

The clubs appear to be divided 4-4, and when South cashes the K-A of trumps he learns that West started with only one diamond. This strongly suggests that, if the spades are 4-2, West probably has the greater length.

Declarer plays a low heart from dummy and when East, afraid that South might have the singleton jack, goes up with the queen, declarer ruffs. The distribution of the East-West cards now begins to emerge more clearly and South proceeds to take full advantage of the situation.

After drawing one more trump, he plays a spade to the queen and leads the king of hearts. East is forced to cover with the ace, thus placing the onus of guarding hearts squarely upon West. When declarer ruffs the ace, this becomes the position:

Ann Landers

Monterey Asking Name Be Restored

Dear Ann Landers: I live in Monterey and like Pericles of old, I must defend my city when it is attacked from within. I refer to the woman who signed her letter, "It Happened In Monterey." A more appropriate signature would have been, "It DIDN'T Happen In Monterey."

She described her marriage as "very satisfactory — without sex." She and her husband enjoy rummy and TV.

Lest your readers think everyone in Monterey lives like that, let me assure you that Monterey is the Peyton Place of America — the Love Mecca of the Universe. A personal poll of our country club crowd revealed 8 out of 10 couples don't own a deck of cards and watch little or no TV. The weather is glorious and conducive to love making, both indoors and out. So, please, Ann, print the truth about Monterey and help restore its good name. — Eros Who Wants Equal Time

Dear Eros: Here's your equal time and now a word from your sponsor: the views represented in the above letter are not necessarily those of your newspaper, the Monterey Chamber of Commerce or this columnist.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Ugly Duckling" inspired me to write. As a grade schooler I was overweight and had a million freckles. Homely would have been a kind description. Like "Ugly Duckling," I, too, had a saint of a teacher. She sensed I was miserable and asked me to stay after school so we could talk. She told me to stop thinking of freckles as disfiguring because many people considered them wholesome, if not downright attractive. She encouraged me to lose weight. As for the boys who made cruel remarks, she said they were just trying to get my attention. "Smile and be pleasant," she advised. "Soon they'll be smiling back."

I took her advice and I will never be able to repay her. She changed my life. The teacher's name was Miss Thelma Ryan. Today she is known as Mrs. Richard Nixon. — C. L. of Whittier

Dear C. L.: Many thanks for a heartwarming letter. It was good of you to share your story.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old boy who is normal in every way — but still I'm a freak. My problem is that I am nearly seven feet tall and still growing. My mother is 6'4" and my Dad is 6'11". When the three of us go anywhere together you'd think the circus was in town. People gawk and make rude remarks. I sometimes wonder if they think we are blind and deaf. A normal person can't imagine what it's like to be turned down by driver education because of being too large for the training car. I wonder how they would like it if their friends' parents were afraid to

Laotian Area Target Of B52s

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52s streaked along both sides of the Laotian border with South Vietnam again today, dropping more than 1,800 tons of bombs in some of the heaviest raids of the Vietnam war.

With about 60 of the giant Stratofortresses flying, two-thirds of the strikes hit along a 200-mile stretch of the Ho Chi Minh trail down through the Laotian panhandle to the Cambodian border.

Other flights of the big bombers hit enemy positions on the Vietnamese side of the border, from within two miles of the demilitarized zone to southwest of Da Nang.

The raids were part of a month-long aerial campaign on both sides of the border to slow enemy arms and ammunition moving into South Vietnam's northern provinces and into Cambodia. The targets included enemy activity, bunkers, base camp, weapons positions, and storage and staging areas. The U.S. Command noted a "slight increase" in ground activity in the northern provinces of South Vietnam, including one attack southwest of Da Nang Sunday in which four men of an American reconnaissance patrol were killed and eight wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that North Vietnamese troops attacked the Gio Linh military headquarters and a refugee camp five miles south of the demilitarized zone killing one militiaman and nine civilians at the refugee camp. Five enemy were known dead, a spokesman said.

In Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops smashed through government positions on the Kiri Rom plateau Monday and drove half the defenders off, military officials said. Officers said no new fighting was reported today.

Group Studies Use Of Steel Barrels As Safety Device

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department is experimenting with a new use for discarded steel barrels—as possible life-saving devices in car crashes.

The clusters of empty barrels are fastened together with steel wire and placed in front of immovable obstacles such as concrete abutments at freeway exit ramps.

Max Clyde, design engineer with the department, said the barrel clusters have been placed in Detroit and Lincoln Park.

When a vehicle hits the barrels, he explained, they collapse one by one, cushioning the vehicle and bringing it to slower stop.

The difference between a smashing stop on impact and the slower stop could be a matter of life or death for the driver and passengers, Clyde said.

General Motors Presents Awards

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors today presented awards for community service to employees from eight cities around the nation.

At an awards luncheon in Detroit to which the winners were brought, GM Chairman James M. Roche announced the pilot program for recognizing community service by GM employees and said, "Your service to your communities was an accomplished fact before the nominations were ever made. It is that broad base of unselfish community spirit among our employees that we wish to recognize, encourage and build upon."

Roche said employees in 89 GM plant cities in America are eligible for the awards, based on judging by panels of community leaders.

Nominees, he said, are selected for the amount of personal effort involved, the results, "the degree of selflessness and sincerity of motivation and the uniqueness and originality of the employee's service."

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

LEAPED CLEAR OVER — Alice McGarry's car wound up like this on a divided interstate highway near Erie, Pa., because she somehow drifted into the median between the two pavements. The median ended when she came to a secondary road underpass, but her driving didn't, and the car leaped clear across the 60-foot unbridged section. She and 6-year-old Everett C. Eighmy, a passenger, were injured.

Sheriff, 8 Others Take Part In City Pot-Burning Fete

DETROIT (AP) — The sheriff and eight Wayne County commissioners presided at a legal pot-burning party Monday — as 600 pounds of drugs, mostly marijuana, went up in smoke.

But not a one inhaled as much as a whiff of the smoke.

Each dignitary got to throw brown bags or even suitcases full of drugs into the county's giant incinerator, which was turned on to 1,600 degrees.

The narcotics dissolved in a puff of smoke through the giant smokestacks.

Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas said that a recent haul of $5.5 million worth of marijuana, that "our storehouse got overcrowded and we had to get rid of some." Drugs seized by police are kept as long as needed for evidence, then destroyed, usually in large lots.

One of the county's top narcotics experts, however, was not allowed to be present. He was a member of the sheriff's narcotics squad. His nose has led to several arrests.

Polish Corridor For Montgomery

By DON HOENSELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Rep. George F. Montgomery is leaking the results of a poll which show him running second and climbing in the Democratic race for governor.

He said the key to the Aug. 4 primary are the undecideds which account for 30 per cent of the electorate.

"I think I can win," he said. Montgomery glowed with optimism as he met in Lansing with spokesmen of the Polish Corridor to accept its endorsement and support in the days before the primary.

Polish Promises
The Polish Corridor is a 14-member ethnic delegation in the House, identified by their almost united stand on major issues.

"We believe George F. Montgomery is the only Democratic candidate for governor who has the ability, experience and leadership qualities necessary to cope with the many complex problems of this state," said Rep. Frank V. Wierzbicki (D-Detroit).

Wierzbicki said that "about two thirds" of the membership of the Polish Corridor made the endorsement. They pledge no money, but promise to campaign for him in their own districts.

Montgomery shook them up with his optimism and his disclosures of the statewide poll which, it was implied, was bought for Senator Sander M. Levin (D-Berkeley).

Earlier, observers saw it as a two-man race between Levin, who has a well-financed and organized campaign, and Zoltan A. Ferency, the Democrat who lost to former Gov. Romney in 1966.

The fourth man in the campaign is Macomb County Prosecutor George N. Parris.

The Furlined Poll
Montgomery said the purloined poll ranks Ferency first with 21 per cent of the vote, himself second with 20, Levin sliding to 18 from 21 two weeks ago, and Parris trailing badly with 11 per cent.

He pooh-poohs talk that he's running to place himself in a bargaining position for nomination at the Democratic convention in Grand Rapids Aug. 22 as Secretary of State.

He is saying he'll accept it if he loses, however.

"Right now I believe I can win," he said.

HUD Has No Integration Plans: Romney

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney told about 40 Detroit-area suburban mayors Monday night that "there is not now and will not be any HUD policy mandating forced racial integration in suburbs."

Romney said his department, however, will carry out federal law pertaining to fair housing provisions, which he said "means a policy of nondiscrimination in housing."

"In practical terms, this means that HUD will not set numerical quotas for the suburbs, and that we are opposed to the creation, either in the cities or the suburbs, of new concentrations of housing for minorities or low income families," he said.

Romney called the meeting to discuss the agency's policies on integration in the wake of a series of articles in the Detroit News last week.

A copyrighted story in the News said that HUD intended to "use its vast power to force integration of America's white suburbs" and would "withhold grants from suburbs which refuse to take concrete steps toward integration." Romney earlier termed references to forced integration "erroneous."

Romney said the HUD policy

Examination Set In Murder Case

ALLEGAN (AP) — Preliminary examination has been set for Aug. 6 for Floyd O. Seal, 37, of Fennville, who is charged with murder in the death of another migrant worker.

Seal, who previously lived in Jackson, Miss., is charged in the death last Friday night of William Hefner, 27, of Sylvia, S.C. Both migrant workers had been living seven miles south of Saugatuck.

Hefner was bludgeoned and stabbed to death.

Seal appeared before District Court Judge Elizabeth Ramsey on an open murder charge Monday and demanded the preliminary examination.

"also means that we will encourage dispersal, in cities and suburbs alike, of housing of good quality available to families of all races and income levels."

He said that HUD "does encourage integration through voluntary action, and we have a statutory mandate to enforce a national policy of fair housing."

"But our role is not to prescribe quotas or numerical standards which a community must meet," he said.

"Instead, our duty is to see that fair housing opportunities exist, and that communities seeking federal assistance are acting affirmatively to prevent discrimination from denying the right and ability of people of all races and incomes to choose where they will live," he said in his text written for the address.

DR. ADRIAN KANTROWITZ, who has moved his heart research team from New York to Detroit, says he hopes to try an operation very soon placing a "mechanical heart" in a human. The device would be hooked up to the blood vessels to take over the pumping to the heart. (AP Wirephoto)

Bill To Extend Jobless Benefits Signed Into Law

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has signed into law a bill providing for payment of extended unemployment insurance benefits.

Milliken said the measure, linked to pending federal legislation, will extend benefits to more than 100,000 Michigan workers in categories not now covered.

"The bill also provides for an extended benefit period for some 62,000 unemployed workers who have already exhausted their present benefit payments," Milliken said. "The need for them now is great and this new law will assist them significantly."

Milliken noted that Michigan law until this point had provided that an unemployed worker could collect benefits for up to 26 weeks.

Under the new law, and federal legislation which Milliken has urged be enacted, both state and federal governments would share equally in the cost of extended benefits for unemployed workers.

The measures provide that the extended benefit would go into effect when either the national unemployment rate exceeded 4.5 per cent for three consecutive months, or when the state's rate for a 12-week period was 20 per cent higher than the average for the two preceding calendar years.

HUD Has No Integration Plans: Romney

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney told about 40 Detroit-area suburban mayors Monday night that "there is not now and will not be any HUD policy mandating forced racial integration in suburbs."

Romney said his department, however, will carry out federal law pertaining to fair housing provisions, which he said "means a policy of nondiscrimination in housing."

"In practical terms, this means that HUD will not set numerical quotas for the suburbs, and that we are opposed to the creation, either in the cities or the suburbs, of new concentrations of housing for minorities or low income families," he said.

Romney called the meeting to discuss the agency's policies on integration in the wake of a series of articles in the Detroit News last week.

A copyrighted story in the News said that HUD intended to "use its vast power to force integration of America's white suburbs" and would "withhold grants from suburbs which refuse to take concrete steps toward integration." Romney earlier termed references to forced integration "erroneous."

Romney said the HUD policy

Examination Set In Murder Case

ALLEGAN (AP) — Preliminary examination has been set for Aug. 6 for Floyd O. Seal, 37, of Fennville, who is charged with murder in the death of another migrant worker.

Seal, who previously lived in Jackson, Miss., is charged in the death last Friday night of William Hefner, 27, of Sylvia, S.C. Both migrant workers had been living seven miles south of Saugatuck.

Hefner was bludgeoned and stabbed to death.

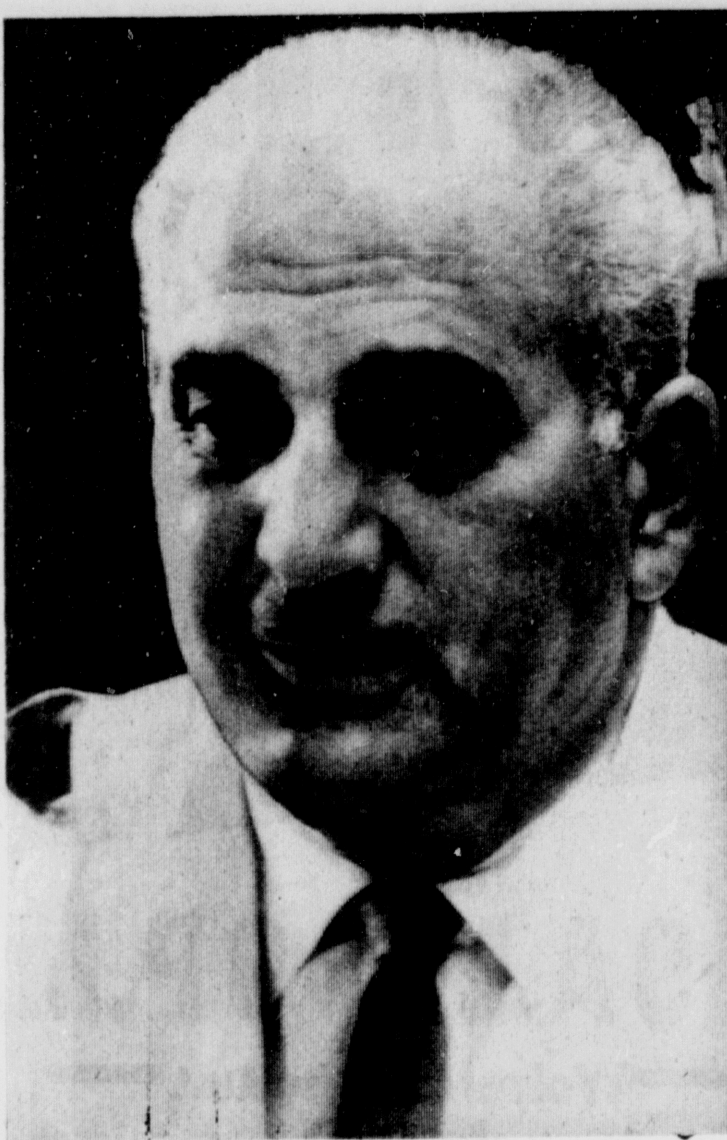

Seal appeared before District Court Judge Elizabeth Ramsey on an open murder charge Monday and demanded the preliminary examination.

"also means that we will encourage dispersal, in cities and suburbs alike, of housing of good quality available to families of all races and income levels."

He said that HUD "does encourage integration through voluntary action, and we have a statutory mandate to enforce a national policy of fair housing."

"But our role is not to prescribe quotas or numerical standards which a community must meet," he said.

"Instead, our duty is to see that fair housing opportunities exist, and that communities seeking federal assistance are acting affirmatively to prevent discrimination from denying the right and ability of people of all races and incomes to choose where they will live," he said in his text written for the address.

A CAMBODIAN GIRL carries fruit and a basket of food as she marches with a column of Cambodian soldiers near Kompong Speu, southwest of the capital, Phnom Penh. The girl has no weapon, but she helps the soldiers as cook and a friendly companion for them to chat with. (AP Wirephoto)

Police Believe Youth Beaten, Then Drowned

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The body of a teen-age boy was found in a creek here Monday after a girl with a bullet wound in the back of her head staggered into a suburban home and said she and her boy friend had been abducted in Detroit.

St. Joseph County police found the battered body of Harold Knox Nabors, 18, Detroit, with hands and feet bound, lying in Grapevine Creek about 2½ miles southwest of South Bend.

Investigators first thought Nabors had been shot but Coroner Harry Ludwig said he had drowned after being beaten with some blunt instrument.

The girl, Denise New, 17, suffered only a grazing wound from a pistol bullet. She returned to Detroit with her parents.

Officer Jon Hanley of the county police department said the girl said a man put a gun to her head as she and Nabors left the Grand Circus Theater in Detroit Sunday night. She said the man told the young couple, "Don't holler and don't say anything."

The gunman, a companion and the young couple drove to South Bend, where the girl said the gunman took Nabors away. She said the gunman came back and offered to take her to Nabors, but she was shot as she walked ahead of the man.

Police said the girl had been beaten and apparently left for dead.

TV Crime Shows Tops In Upcoming Schedule

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television wheel continues to turn and, once again, the lawman—cop, secret agent, private eye, marshal—is the favorite.

Twelve series, four of them new next fall, will be built around crime and, as decreed by the Television Code, punishment. Right will triumph before the final commercial—unless it is a two or three-part episode—and miscreants will be caught or perish in the wake of their evil deeds.

In addition to the returning crime hunters on the three networks, there will be ABC's newcomers, "Dan August," "The Silent Force" and "The Most Deadly Game," plus NBC's six-part "McCloud."

Doctors, who made a TV comeback last season, continue to be popular heroes. ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." and the dedicated healers of CBS's "Medical Center" will be joined by Dr. Matt Lincoln of ABC, a psychiatrist familiar with white-coat routines because the part is played by Vince Edwards, once Ben Casey, dedicated neurosurgeon.

Then there is CBS's "The Interns," which by its general structure appears to be designed to do for doctoring what "Mod Squad" did for police work: attract a young audience. The series will center on a group of young medics in the charge of an older, experienced physician.

In addition to the weekly medicine shows, there will continue to be the doctor segment of NBC's "The Bold Ones" every third week.

Pedagogues, too, are gaining in popularity. Andy Griffith will be playing the head of a progressive school in CBS's "Headmaster," joining the network's John Forsythe who teaches in "To Rome, With Love." NBC's Bill Cosby, ABC's "Nanny and the Professor" and the teachers of "Room 222."

Lawyers of the young and dedicated stripes are having a vogue. ABC has a series called "The Young Lawyers" and CBS another called "Squirefront Lawyers."

Mary Tyler Moore, in her new CBS series, will play a reporter for a television station, while Doris Day will be promoted from secretary to writer on her magazine—it has been a long time since we have had any journalists around.

NBC's "Nancy" is a bit of one-upmanship over CBS's "The Governor and J.J." since Nancy herself is the daughter of the president of the United States. The governor was last season's sole politician, but this season he'll have company in a senator, played by Hal Holbrook in a "Bold Ones" segment.

Danny Thomas, as of yore, will be a nightclub entertainer in his second-generation series, "Make Room for Granddaddy," and will be joined on ABC with a show biz family group, "The Partridge," another situation comedy.

One ABC series, "The Immortal," lies somewhere between fantasy and science fiction, although its basic plot structure is reminiscent of "The Fugitive." This stars a character with strange blood that keeps him from aging, and he is fleeing from an aging billionaire who wants to capture our hero for transfusions.

The earliest-known house-like dwelling is one dating from around 35,000 B.C., discovered in 1961 in Zambia.

New Riding Trail Opened To Public

Nine riders from the Silver Spur Saddle Club initiated the Department of Natural Resources' "Forest Islands" Riding and Snowmobile trail last Sunday.

The start of the Forest Islands trail is located about three miles from M-35 on County Road 533 which runs from M-35 to Bark River. The trail is not complete but a 12-mile circuit can be used and the riding club was anxious to give it a try.

The trail proved to be "very enjoyable and they appreciate having it" according to club president Larry Johnston of Gladstone.

The trail was laid out by area forester Mike Zuidema and assistant area forester Mike Conley through an 8,000-acre block of the Bay de Noc State Forest. It is hoped that the complete trail, which would be approximately 20 miles long, will be ready for snowmobilers this winter, they said.

Riding And Hiking

The "Forest Islands Trail" was so named because of the numerous heavily forested ridges surrounded by swamps on which the trail travels.

Several points of interest line the trail including an abandoned eagle's nest in a large white pine, numerous beaver dams, beautiful stands of sawtimber, white and red pine and large hemlock near 200 years old. An added attraction for snowmobilers will be deer yarding areas that the trail travels past.

Forest technician Terry Johnson recently finished the short version of the trail using a department bulldozer and loader. Several swamp areas required sand fill to make the trail usable during the summer months. It is planned to seed these fill areas to red clover next spring, that they will benefit both grouse and deer in the area.

Besides horseback riding and snowmobiling, the trail will also serve motor bike riding and hiking. An opening which will serve as a campsite is located at the half way mark making it ideal for overnight hikes by the different scouting organizations.

Edward Sauter of Escanaba is presently cutting out the last portion of the trail on a commercial timber harvesting basis.

Ready For Winter

The parking lot and about the first half mile of the trail is located on private land. An easement was granted to the

FROM THIS STARTING POINT the Federal Islands trail opens a 12-mile circuit, although the project is incomplete as yet. The parking area is on County Road 533.

State of Michigan by Mr. and Mrs. Ted DeGrave of Wilson. Sawyer Stoll Timber Co. also contributed an easement to the State to make the trail possible.

The trail is marked with orange paint but users can obtain maps of the finished portion of the trail from the area forester's office located at the DNR district headquarters across from the fairgrounds. It is hoped that maps of the entire 20 mile trail will be available before the snowmobiling season.

Another trail labeled the "North Country Trail" will pass through Aiger county near Sundell and Chatham. This trail will be part of the National Park Service trail system and will originate in Vermont and terminate in Montana. The responsibility of laying out the trail through the Upper Peninsula has been vested with the DNR area foresters through state and private land and with the district rangers through U. S. Forest Service land.

At the present time the trail is in the aerial photo mapping stage. It is not certain when funds will become available for construction.

OPENING THE remaining portion of the trail is Edward Sauter of Escanaba, who is cutting the eight-mile stretch on a commercial timber harvesting basis.

SILVER SPUR SADDLE CLUB riders move from the parking area to the nearby Bark River, where their horses splash through the shallows to start the trail ride.

Linda Details Manson Visit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pretty, petite Linda Kasabian recalls first hearing of Charles M. Manson and his hippie-type "family" from a girl who told her of "a beautiful man that we'd all been waiting for."

When she approached the shaggy-haired Manson and asked to join his clan, she says, "He felt my legs, and he seemed to think they were okay."

Thus, the state's green-eyed star witness began her testimony Monday in the Sharon Tate murder trial. She was interrupted repeatedly by defense objections.

"This witness is not competent," she's insane," Manson's attorney, Irving A. Kanarek, said before she was sworn.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi called the defense remarks "unbelievable conduct" and added: "I ask the court to find them in contempt."

After a conference at the bench, the judge admonished the jury to disregard Kanarek's remarks and allowed Mrs. Kasabian to take the stand. She is expected to testify for at least three days.

Asked why she wanted to tell her story, she said softly, "I strongly believe in the truth. And I believe the truth should be spoken."

She said she was aware she would be granted immunity from prosecution if she testified for the state.

Youth Drowns

PENTWATER (AP) — A 13-year-old youth drowned Monday in Lake Michigan off Pentwater State Park in Oceana County.

Police identified the victim as Charles Arthur Chisap of Loveland, Ohio.

New Riding Trail Opened To Public

Nine riders from the Silver Spur Saddle Club initiated the Department of Natural Resources' "Forest Islands" Riding and Snowmobile trail last Sunday.

The start of the Forest Islands trail is located about three miles from M-35 on County Road 535 which runs from M-35 to Bark River. The trail is not complete but a 12 mile circuit can be used and the riding club was anxious to give it a try.

The trail proved to be "very enjoyable and they appreciate having it" according to club president Larry Johnston of Gladstone.

The trail was laid out by area forester Mike Zuidema and assistant area forester Mike Conley through an 8,000 acre block of the Bay de Noc State Forest. It is hoped that the complete trail, which would be approximately 20 miles long, will be ready for snowmobilers this winter, they said.

Riding And Hiking
The "Forest Islands Trail" was so named because of the numerous heavily forested ridges surrounded by swamp on which the trail travels. Several points of interest line the trail including an abandoned eagle's nest in a large white pine, numerous beaver dams, beautiful stands of sawtimber, white and red pine and large hemlock near 200 years old. An added attraction for snowmobilers will be deer yarding areas that the trail travels past.

Forest technician Terry Johnson recently finished the short version of the trail using a department bulldozer and loader. Several swamp areas required sand fill to make the trail usable during the summer months. It is planned to seed these fill areas to red clover next spring, that they will benefit both grouse and deer in the area.

Besides horseback riding and snowmobiling, the trail will also serve motor bike riding and hiking. An opening which will serve as a campsite is located at the half way mark making it ideal for overnight hikes by the different scouting organizations.

Edward Sauter of Escanaba is presently cutting out the last portion of the trail on a commercial timber harvesting basis.

Ready For Winter
The parking lot and about the first half mile of the trail is located on private land. An easement was granted to the

FROM THIS STARTING POINT the Federal Islands trail opens a 12-mile circuit, although the project is incomplete as yet. The parking area is on County Road 535.

State of Michigan by Mr. and Mrs. Ted DeGrave of Wilson for the area the first half mile of trail is located on. Sawyer Stoll Timber Co. also contributed an easement to the State to make the trail possible.

The trail is marked with orange paint but users can obtain maps of the finished portion of the trail from the area forester's office located at the DNR district headquarters across from the fairgrounds. It is hoped that maps of the entire 20 mile trail will be available before the snowmobiling season.

Another trail labeled the "North Country Trail" will pass through Aiger county near Sundell and Chatham. This trail will be part of the National Park Service trail system and will originate in Vermont and terminate in Montana. The responsibility of laying out the trail through the Upper Peninsula has been vested with the DNR area foresters through state and private land and with the district rangers through U. S. Forest Service land.

At the present time the trail is in the aerial photo mapping stage. It is not certain when funds will become available for construction.

OPENING THE remaining portion of the trail is Edward Sauter of Escanaba, who is cutting the eight-mile stretch on a commercial timber harvesting basis.

SILVER SPUR SADDLE CLUB riders move from the parking area to the nearby Bark River, where their horses splash through the shallows to start the trail ride.

Linda Details Manson Visit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pretty, petite Linda Kasabian recalls first hearing of Charles M. Manson and his hippie-type "family" from a girl who told her of "a beautiful man that we'd all been waiting for."

When she approached the shaggy-haired Manson and asked to join his clan, she says, "He felt my legs, and he seemed to think they were okay."

This witness is not competent, she's insane," Manson's attorney, Irving A. Kanarek, said before she was sworn.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi called the defense remarks "unbelievable conduct" and added: "I ask the court to find them in contempt."

After a conference at the bench, the judge admonished the jury to disregard Kanarek's remarks and allowed Mrs. Kasabian to take the stand. She is expected to testify for at least three days.

Asked why she wanted to tell her story, she said softly, "I strongly believe in the truth. And I believe the truth should be spoken."

She said she was aware she would be granted immunity from prosecution if she testified for the state.

Youth Drowns

PENTWATER (AP) — A 13-year-old youth drowned Monday in Lake Michigan off Pentwater State Park in Oceana County.

Police identified the victim as Charles Arthur Chrisp of Loveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary Howard Dies In Oregon

Mrs. Mary Howard, the mother of Clifford Kalishek of Gladstone, died in North Bend, Ore., where she had been residing for the past four years. She is survived by her son, two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Warrender of Silverton, Ore., and Mrs. Ladya Sanborn of Santa Monica, Calif. Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this time.

Antipollution Measure OK'd

Conservationists Face Challenge From Law

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Gov. William Milliken signed Monday a tough new antipollution law that challenges the conservation-conscious to put up or shut up.

The far-reaching law, effective Oct. 1, permits anyone to file suit to protect the air, water and other natural resources. Not even the state itself is immune from court action.

First Such Law

In signing the bill, Milliken said Michigan is the only state to have such a law. He urged other governors to support similar legislation in their states. A similar measure also has been introduced in Congress.

Under the new law's sweeping provisions, a lone citizen could try to shut down a big company for contaminating a waterway; challenge regulations of state agencies as too lenient toward industry; or sue a neighbor for fouling the air with a trash burner.

The possibilities, seemingly, are endless.

Courts Can Rule

Circuit courts, in addition to having the power to grant injunctions and impose conditions to stop pollution, may even direct governmental units to upgrade standards if they are deficient.

Until now, antipollution actions could be filed only by those suffering a personal loss.

Even then, they were bound largely by the decision of government at the local or state agency level.

Under the new law, the matter can be taken directly to circuit court. The court may refer it to an agency, but it also may handle the case itself and bypass a lot of red tape.

Milliken Pushed Bill

Milliken had pushed for passage of the bill on a high-priority basis. The Republican governor has been on an antipollution campaign for many months, keying on the release of poisonous substances into Michigan waters.

A scare over mercury contamination led the governor to declare a fishing ban in some waterways in April.

In addition to the new law just signed, he called for legislation requiring companies to disclose the nature and volume of all discharges and to pay for state monitoring of the wastes. The Michigan House approved the bill, but the Senate did not set it before recessing July 1. Milliken has called for fast action when the Legislature reconvenes after the Aug. 4 primary election.

Top Protection Predicted

The governor claims passage of the so-called "truth-in-pollution" bill will give Michigan the finest environmental protection package in the nation. He says there will be no "privileged sanctuaries" for polluters. Milliken said the new law signed Monday will not be the total answer to environmental problems, but will help bring issues into focus more quickly.

Leon Cohan, deputy attorney general, said the new law opens the door to greater prosecution of pollution cases in a dramatic way.

Body Of Drowning Victim Recovered

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—The body of one of three Saginaw residents who drowned in a boating accident on the St. Mary's River July 19 was recovered Monday.

The body of Clyde Kinney, 62, was found in the river. On July 20, the body of his son, Donald Kinney, 39, was removed from the lake.

Searchers still are seeking the body of the elder Kinney's grandson, Donald Kinney Jr., 12.

He said a team of lawyers in the attorney general's office has been concentrating on environmental matters and will find the new law a helpful tool.

Suits Being Filed

The state already has filed a number of suits to stop pollution under laws prohibiting harmful discharges. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said recently some "large lawsuits" would be filed against polluters of Lake Michigan.

Although state agencies charged with protecting the environment may be the targets of some lawsuits related to standards for air and water pollution, there is praise for the new law.

Ralph MacMullan, director of the Department of Natural Resources, says "It's a tremendous step, loaded with potential. Up to now, there has been no good vehicle for the citizen to make the bureaucracy more responsive."

Welcome Suits

"My department probably will be the recipient of more suits than anyone else put together," he said. "But I welcome it. If somebody thinks a restriction is too soft, he can sue us and we can work it out in court. The only way we can serve the public is by listening to them."

Norman Billings, assistant executive secretary of the State

Water Resources Commission, also said he favors the new law. He said one concern, however, is that courts could interrupt the commission's work by demanding that a certain case be given a certain priority.

Chamber Opposed

In Senate debate on the measure, Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, argued "agencies by and large represent those they regulate - not the public trust."

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce opposed the concept of the new law, arguing that it was best to leave jurisdiction in the hands of agencies trained for the work.

However, chamber President Harry Hall said industry is going to take a "wait and see" attitude toward the law. He said most industries are doing all they can to fight pollution and "people who think this law in itself will stop pollution will be disappointed."

Hall said the chamber favored a sharper definition of "pollution" rather than leaving definitions to individual judges.

"There are a lot of legal ramifications that have to be tested," he said, but added that he did not feel the measure by itself would keep new business out of Michigan.

Phrasing Hailed

Milliken himself favored the phrase "unreasonable pollution" as ground for lawsuits. So his legal advisor rewrote the original bill, drafted by University of Michigan Law Prof. Joseph Sax.

However, the house struck the word "unreasonable."

The bill provides that an accused firm may defend itself not only by challenging the evidence of the accuser, but by showing that its action is consistent with protection of natural resources and that it has no reasonable alternative.

An attempt to give the accused a choice of the "consistent" or "no reasonable alternative" defenses was defeated.

Bonds May Be Needed

The bill provides that a judge may require $500 surety bond to be posted by the accuser, the aim being to discourage a flood of frivolous suits. The fear of many suits of harassing nature was raised constantly by opponents of the bill, both in hearings and in legislative debate.

Also designed to head off frivolous suits is a stipulation to prevent repeated suits in a single situation.

The clear intention, however, is to open the door for the concerned citizen to make his force heard against industry and bureaucracy.

"Now," said Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkeley, senate sponsor of the bill, "every citizen can be a Ralph Nader."

Clean 'Worry Closet' To KO Your Problems

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Now is a good time to clean out your worry closet.
The summer doldrums are hard enough to get through without cluttering up your life with nagging vexations and old anxieties that profit neither your mind nor heart.
Just as you periodically throw away outworn or out-of-date clothing, so you should systematically rid yourself of problems that choke the free expression of your spirit. Some of these jet-setter worries probably weren't really worth fretting about in the first place.
Here, for example, are some hackneyed worries we've decided to throw out with the rest of the garbage.
Will the penny post card make a comeback?
After women are finally liberated from men, what will they want to be liberated from next?
What will be the dominant color in men's neckties this Christmas?

LANCING (AP) — Charles Chambers, auditor for the State Highway Commission, has been named to head both financial programs and internal services of the State Highway Department.
The plane crashed Monday at the lake, outside Adrian. Officers said the wheels of the plane were down, so that the pilot evidently realized it was water and tried to pull up, when the tail hit the water and the craft pancaked.
Devil's Lake covers 1,200 acres.
Led by Lenawee County Sheriff Richard Germond, searchers discovered the fuselage of the plane at the bottom of the lake Monday and lifted it to the surface. It was taken to a nearby marina for examination.

THE ARMY WAY: — Someone must have taken an old Army saying to heart when a highway division crew repainted the exit strips on the Aurora-Donald interchange of Interstate 5 between Portland and Salem, Ore. The saying: "When policing military grounds . . . if it's too big to pick up, paint it." (AP Wirephoto)

Divers Continue Downstate Search

ADRIAN (AP) — Divers searched again today for the bodies of two men who died when a plane crashed and sank in 45 feet of water at Devil's Lake.
The two were identified as Carl Powell, 41, of Troy, who was production manager for a Chrysler Corp. plant at Hamtramck, and James Charles Young, 23, of Detroit.

Profits, Sales Gain Reported By Automaker

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., the only one of the Big Three automakers to do so, registered both a sales and profits gain in this year's second quarter.
While conceding that 1969 sales and earnings were affected by strikes at seven locations, GM said in a statement: "It appears that the low point in automobile sales has been passed. Conditions appear favorable for further gain."
Second-quarter profits, however, were not sufficient to offset a poor first quarter and GM's first-half earnings were below those for last year's first six months.
GM's second-quarter sales hit $6.6 billion, against $6.2 billion in the same year-ago quarter, while profits were $473 million against $448 million. The per share earnings were $1.64 and $1.56, respectively.
First-half sales this year were $12.2 billion, however, down from $12.7 billion, and net profits $821 million compared with $971 million last year.
First-half per share earnings of $2.85 this year were down from $3.38 in the same year-ago span.
Ford Motor Co. reported last week a second-quarter net profit of $166 million, off from $180 million last year, and Chrysler Corp. reported earlier a $8.1 million profit for the same period, far below 1969's profit of $44.4 million and in the wake of two successive losing quarters.
Ford's second-quarter sales hit a record for that period, $3.9 billion against the previous second-quarter high of $3.8 billion in 1969.

Water Leaks... HOW TO ELIMINATE THEM! Use Your Water Meter...

to make a check for invisible leaks, turn off all water taps in the house and outside and watch the ten gallon indicator on your meter to see if it moves. By timing the movement with the second hand on your watch, you can determine how many gallons per minute are being wasted through leakage! Multiply this leakage per minute by 1440 (minutes per 24 hours) and the gallons per day lost will result. Further multiplying this amount by 30 days will reveal the total gallons of lost water that you are paying for each month. In most cases, repair of leaking faucets, flush boxes, shower drips, washing machine water valves and other leaking fixtures will save many, many dollars annually.

Clean 'Worry Closet' To KO Your Problems

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is a good time to clean out your worry closet.

The summer doldrums are hard enough to get through without cluttering up your life with nagging vexations and old anxieties that profit neither your mind nor heart.

Just as you periodically throw away outworn or out-of-date clothes, so you should systematically rid yourself of problems that choke the free expression of your spirit. Some of these leftover worries probably weren't really worth fretting about in the first place.

Here, for example, are some hackneyed worries we've decided to throw out with the rest of the garbage:

Will the penny post card make a comeback?

After women are finally liberated from men, what will they want to be liberated from next?

What will be the dominant color in men's neckties this Christmas?

What good will it do to give the vote to 18-year-olds, if they can't find anything in society worth voting for anyway?

When will someone invent a good new clean fun for people over 40 which won't put weight on them, leave them with a hangover, or keep them up after midnight?

Will alimony never cease?

What did the governor of North Carolina really say to the governor of South Carolina—or did the governor of South Carolina say it to the governor of North Carolina?

How long could two teen-agers actually tie up a telephone line if their parents made no objections and they were permitted to gab on until neither could find a single thing more to say?

If sex novels are to be free of all censorship, how soon will someone find a way to get rich by selling dirty messages on billboards?

It has been days and days since Richard Burton bought Elizabeth Taylor a new yacht or a fresh diamond. Is he going to go all summer without giving her another decent present?

Isn't there some firm you can send a box top to and get back a good $10,000 college education for only 99 cents?

Does the United States have an international policy that anyone can understand, and if so, why is it so difficult to find anyone who admits he can understand it?

When people speak of the population explosion and the litter problem, aren't they actually talking about one and the same thing?

When will it end?

UAW Plans Cutbacks Due To Cash Crisis

DETROIT (AP)—Faced with a cash crisis in its operating budget, the International Executive Board of the United Auto Workers Union meets here Wednesday to map financial cutbacks expected to result in staff layoffs.

Some sources have estimated the layoffs may approximate 10 per cent of the union's staff of some 1,000 international representatives (organizers and trouble shooters) and clerical employees.

Secretary - Treasurer Emil Mazey has described the union's current troubles as "only temporary" and has emphasized only its general budget is feeling a pinch, partially because of large scale layoffs in the auto and aerospace industries.

The UAW's strike fund has a balance of more than $112 million and Mazey forecasts it likely will reach $120 million before contracts expire at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler Sept. 14, when the UAW says it will strike one of the Big Three if there is no new contract in hand.

The UAW has declined to disclose the size of its general fund deficit, but concedes it is in the red. Some outside sources have estimated the deficit is as much as $4 million.

The UAW blames the red ink primarily to an income slowdown due to layoffs and to higher than anticipated expenditures over the last four years in construction of its Family Education Center on Black Lake in northern Lower Michigan.

The union has a fetish for operating on a cash, pay-as-you-go basis, and the cost of the education center, originally estimated at $12 million to $13 million has run up to $18 million and another $2 million has been committed for completion this fall.

The union claims 1.6 million active members whose dues are the equivalent of two hours pay a month, or an average of approximately $7 each. Some 200,000 retirees contribute $1 a month each. Laid off workers, estimated to top 100,000, pay no dues.

Of the dues, 40 per cent stays with the local union. The remaining 60 per cent is divided between the international union's operating budget and its strike fund.

Sears Planning To Build World's Tallest Building

CHICAGO (AP)—Sears, Roebuck and Co. unveiled plans Monday for the world's tallest building, a 100-story structure.

To be erected on the near West Side by 1974, the 1,450-foot structure will contain 4.4 million gross square feet, making it the largest private office building in the world.

The building will serve as Sears' main office with the firm occupying more than half the structure.

Gordon M. Metcalf, Sears chairman, said the building will be called Sears Tower and will cost more than $100 million.

The exterior will be made of black aluminum and amber glass. Architects are Skidmore, Owings & Merrill of Chicago.

Sears Tower will be 100 feet higher than the World Trade Center under construction in New York City.

Metcalf said Sears will finance the construction. Sears is the world's largest retailer. In 1969 it recorded net sales of nearly $8.9 billion.

BACK FROM DEAD—Cpl. Robert E. Madewell, 20, is alive and recuperating at Memphis Naval Air Station Hospital after being pronounced dead and spending six hours in the morgue at Da Nang, South Vietnam. He moaned and someone heard him.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

In order to teach children to set the table, you can begin early by dividing your silverware drawer into thirds and placing the silver just as it would be on the table—forks on the left, then knives, and spoons on the right.

If you have room, you can even stack your napkins to the left of your forks.

As the children help put away silverware each day, it becomes a habit to place them in the right spot. Then when they begin setting the table, just tell them to put the silver on the table just like they did in the drawer.

Dear Heloise:

In a recent hint on cleansing wicker baskets in detergent suds and ammonia and a brush, I go a step further.

When the baskets are thoroughly dry, I put them into a large cardboard box to keep the clear enamel from spreading all over the room, and spray away!

This is also perfect treatment for those extremely expensive new baskets we all do pick up now and then.

Lake Pilots Back After Short Rift

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Great Lakes pilots were back on the job Monday as a brief dispute ended between the pilots association and Coast Guard and Department of Transportation officials.

The dispute was ironed out Friday, and the pilots agreed to return to work immediately while federal officials begin working out a new rate structure with Canada. The U.S. and Canada jointly administer pilot age and set fees for the Great Lake St. Lawrence Seaway.

The work stoppage began last Tuesday in Duluth, spreading to include the 52 pilots in the area west of the Welland Canal in New York state.

The government has 15 days in which to work out an agreement, which would raise pilotage fees on the Great Lakes for the second time this year.

The pilots work under a complicated fee system which now takes into account the area piloted, the number of hours sailing, the size of the vessel and the amount of pilot expenses.

Under a new wage agreement reached July 7, pilot rates for the St. Mary's river vary from $272 for smaller vessels to $416 for larger ships. Prior to the agreement, the rate was a flat $302.

Rates on the Welland Canal now vary from $385.50 to $539, compared with $310 before July 7.

Former Woman Publisher Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Helen Rogers Reid, former publisher of the New York Herald Tribune and one of the most influential American women of her era, died Monday at her Fifth Avenue apartment. She was 87.

A native of Appleton, Wis., Mrs. Reid formerly was social secretary of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, whose husband owned the New York Tribune.

In 1911 she married the Reids' son, Ogden, who became editor of the paper the following year.

After her husband's death in 1947, Mrs. Reid became president and publisher of the newspaper and was named chairman of the board in 1953. She retired in 1955 at the age of 72.

'Chicago Plan' Fails; Blame Rifts, Slump In Construction

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
CHICAGO (AP) — Officials say labor disputes and a home construction slump have hampered the "Chicago Plan," a program designed to get more black workers into the building industry.

The federal government hoped the plan would be a model for other U.S. cities to copy. Launched last January, its goal was to provide 4,000 jobs this year for minority workers. So far, only 150 Negroes have been included in the first group hired to undergo training with an operating engineers union.

Dispute Blamed

Fred Hubbard, director of the project, says labor disputes and the economic squeeze on building "unquestionably hurt the Chicago Plan."

"Finishing 4,000 jobs for minority group workers this summer would be a miracle," he said. "I have no doubt that eventually it can be done, but how can people expect miracles?"

Thomas J. Nayder, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Building Trades Council and a member of the Chicago Plan executive board, also attributes the hiring delays to a slump in the building industry, particularly home construction.

Continued Progress

Nayder says, however, that progress continues to be made in finding jobs for minority group workers who can qualify as journeymen, partly skilled workers or apprentices. He says delays have been encountered mostly in finding jobs for the least-skilled of minority groups.

The Chicago Plan received its impetus last summer when the Coalition for United Community Action, a group of 61 black community organizations, shut down $80 million worth of construction projects to focus attention on their demands for acceptance into Chicago's 19 building trades unions. The Coalition said only 3,000 Negroes were employed in 90,000 construction jobs.

Other Protests

Similar protests were made by black workers in Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

To avert the work stoppages, the Chicago Plan received its impetus last summer when the Coalition for United Community Action, a group of 61 black community organizations, shut down $80 million worth of construction projects to focus attention on their demands for acceptance into Chicago's 19 building trades unions. The Coalition said only 3,000 Negroes were employed in 90,000 construction jobs.

Nab Escapee

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago police said today they were holding Arthur Dexter, 36, identified as an escapee from the Kent County Jail. Dexter teamed with Gerald Weiss, 22, in the getaway two weeks ago, police said. Weiss was captured six days later in Grand Rapids.

Judge Against Testimony In Collins' Trial

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A former roommate of accused killer John Norman Collins was forbidden today to tell a jury about the items of women's clothing he said he saw Collins remove from the trunk of his car five days after Karen Sue Beineman vanished.

Circuit Court Judge John W. Conlin suppressed the testimony of Arnold Davis after reviewing it without the presence of the jury. He ruled the testimony had no connection with any of the clothing worn by the 18-year-old Grand Rapids girl immediately before she disappeared from the campus of Eastern Michigan University where she was a freshman. Collins is being tried for first degree murder in her death.

However, Davis was allowed to tell the jurors that he saw Collins take a green or dark blue blanket and a large cardboard box from the trunk of his car the night of July 28, 1969—five days after Miss Beineman disappeared. Her body was found on July 26.

Davis testified in front of the jury that Collins was questioned by police July 27 and came home to tell him that he was suspected in the last murder. Miss Beineman was the seventh young woman slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area during a two-year period. No charges have been filed in the other six slayings.

On the following night, Davis said he saw Collins take the blanket and box upstairs.

"John took it out about 15 to 20 minutes later. I asked where the blanket was and he said he got rid of it," Davis testified. He said Collins left with the box and was gone about 30 minutes.

Market Slumping To Slight Degree

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, in the absence of any significant news developments, edged lazily into minus territory today. Trading was quiet.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 0.82 at 7,29.26. The blue-chip indicator had been fractionally behind since the session opened.

Losing stocks on the New York Stock Exchange led winners by one issue. The gainers had held a slender advantage near the start.

Today's lackluster behavior appeared to be a repeat performance of Monday's session, when the Dow industrial average slipped 0.14 and winners and losers on the Big Board ran neck-and-neck.

As they did Monday, analysts attributed the market's indecisiveness to investor hesitation stemming from the Middle East and Indochinese situations and from second-quarter earnings results.

Investors appear to be awaiting news about Israel's reaction to the U.S. Middle East peace proposal. Israel reportedly is expecting further clarification from Washington of the plan.

Brokers added that many investors were concerned because the continuing flow of second-quarter earnings reports had blotted out early favorable trends.

Charges Dropped In Death Of Negro

KANSAS CITY (AP)—First-degree murder charges were dropped Monday against two men being held in the ambush slaying of Missouri Rep. Leon Jordan, a Negro Democratic leader.

The Jackson County prosecutor, Joseph Teasdale, said the story of the state's star witness, a 14-year-old boy, fell apart under further questioning. The boy's identity was not revealed.

Released from custody were Reginald M. Watson, 19, and Carlton Edward Miller, 36, both Negroes.

They were arrested two days after an assassin shot Jordan with two bursts of shotgun fire as he walked to his car from the tavern he operated in the early morning of July 15.

Democrats Charged With 'Using' Federal Funds To Buy Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats have been accused by a Republican leader of seeking to spend federal money "where it might buy the most votes" in coming House and Senate elections.

Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton made the charge Monday as the Senate prepared to consider a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill which exceeds the Nixon administration budget by $453 million.

Democrats, however, insisted Congress has trimmed more than $8.3 billion from administration budgets since President Nixon took office.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, said the record of budget reductions is not a party matter. He said Democrats and Republicans have shaped it together.

But Morton, a member of the House, charged that Democrats have ignored the delicate state of the economy, "ignored all the rational warning signals, and are off on an old-fashioned Democrat spending spree."

"Their motive is still the same," he said in a GOP newsletter, "to spend money where it might buy the most votes to keep them in control of Congress."

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said if the government runs up a heavy budget deficit this year, the administration may have to propose tax increases next year to pay the bill.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., insisted that is not so. He said Democrats can prove that the congressional record is one of cutting appropriations bills, although he said Congress is shifting priorities to put more money into health, education and similar home-front problems, while trimming away at defense, foreign aid and similar spending.

The spending dispute came as the Senate prepared to consider today a $4.4 billion education appropriations bill already approved by the House. A final roll call will send it to Nixon.

Republican Leader Scott said if it becomes law as is, the President may refuse to spend the funds which exceed his budget—or may balance the additional outlay with cuts from other federal programs.

Wet Soils, Rain Slow Farming

LANSING (AP) — Wet soils and rain continued to delay field work for Michigan farmers last week.

The State Crop Reporting Service said the wheat harvest has been held up and some wheat is sprouting in the fields.

Soil moisture supplies ranged from adequate to surplus in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula to short to adequate in the northern Lower Peninsula and Upper Peninsula.

About 40 per cent of the wheat harvest was in. Another 50 per cent was ripe and waiting to be harvested.

More than one-third of the oat acreage was not yet headed.

Corn continued to make excellent growth on well drained fields. Dry beans and soybeans continued to develop well on lands drained of water. Some flooding was reported on fields planted late.

Potatoes and sugar beets continued to make good growth.

About 30 per cent of the second cutting of hay was complete.

Pastures continued to supply average to above average amounts of feed in most of the Lower Peninsula.

Onions and other vegetables continued to develop well. The harvest of an excellent crop of cucumbers for pickles was underway in most areas.

Fresh tomatoes for the market were being picked in the Detroit area and Berrien County. Early sweet corn was being picked in many areas.

Strong winds caused considerable damage to unharvested tart cherries and other tree fruits in northwestern and west central counties.

The blueberry harvest was approaching a peak in Berrien County. The picking of summer apples, early peaches and early plums also continued in Berrien County.

Later apple varieties were developing well.

Menominee Snares Second Straight Legion Crown

MENOMINEE — For the second straight year, Menominee has stopped Escanaba's bid to rule American Legion baseball in the Upper Peninsula, which the Cubs had dominated for 14 years prior to being dethroned last year. The host club won, 10-2, in a game played Monday night.

Menominee's righthander Dan Jacques, who stopped the Cubs for the first time last year in the finals of the District 11 tournament, did the same thing again Monday night as he stifled the Cubs on seven hits, walked one and struck out eight. Jacques also carried the big bat for Menominee, hitting a two-run homer in both the first and eighth innings.

Menominee wasted little time getting started last night as they nicked Doug Howard for six runs in the first three innings. Al Larson came in to relieve Howard and held Menominee scoreless until the eighth when they erupted for four more runs. Tom Kangas then took over for Larson and finished the game.

Cubs Score

Trailing 6-0 going into the fifth, the Cubs broke the ice when Brian Larson singled and scored on a double to center-field by Bob McGinn.

Escanaba cut the gap to four runs in the sixth when Howard singled and stole second. A miscue on the part of Howard cost the Cubs another chance to score in the inning as he was caught looking and was picked off of second.

Kangas then followed with a walk, with Bill Baum being safe on an error. Kangas scored the second run for the Cubs when McGinn was safe on a fielder's choice.

Menominee Outburst

Leading 6-2, Menominee wrapped up the championship in the eighth inning when Gale Behnke and Dave Kohrt singled with Behnke scoring on a Escanaba miscue. Jacques then followed with his second homer of the game, a high fly over the left field fence. Two more singles by Phil Bolvin and Jeff Haglund and another Cub error rounded out the scoring for Menominee.

Menominee will advance to the Zone 5 tournament next Saturday at Ishpeming, facing the host Ishpeming team in a double elimination tournament for the U.P. Championship, with the winner advancing to the state tournament at Manistee.

Baseball Conference May Hold Surprises

MONTREAL (AP) — Major league baseball owners opened their annual summer meeting today and were believed ready to make "traded for a future draft choice" part of their language.

Among one of the proposals

Niekro Faces Royals Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' Joe Niekro will be working on pitching victory No. 11 tonight as the Tigers take on the Kansas City Royals in the first of a three-game stand at Tiger Stadium.

Niekro (10-8) will be throwing against the Royals' Dick Drago (6-8).

But Niekro is looking beyond victory No. 11 to his twentieth win of the season.

"If I keep starting every fourth day, I believe I've got a shot at it," he said. The Bengals' other pitchers hoping for 20-game seasons are Mickey Lolich (9-12) and Les Cain (9-3).

"I'd settle for 13 or 14 (wins) if that would be enough to get us in the World Series," the 25-year-old righthander said. "But I don't think it will be. So I'll take as many wins as I can get."

The Tigers will be looking to close the six-game gap between them and the Baltimore Orioles, who lead the American League East, as they meet the Royals. Baltimore, meanwhile, will be hosting the Chicago White Sox.

While most of the Tigers relaxed on their off day Monday pitcher Danny McLain and his wife, the former Sharyn Boudreau, watched Sharyn's father, Lou Boudreau, formally inducted in baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Boudreau was one of four voted into the hall by the veteran baseball writers in their annual election. Boudreau, 53, a former shortstop and player-manager of the Cleveland Indians, now is a radio announcer in Chicago, covering the Cubs.

expected to be made at the two-day meeting—first ever held by the majors in Canada—was granting teams the right to trade future college draft picks, similar to football and basketball.

Although the baseball draft is not nearly as sprinkled with publicized college stars as the other two sports, allowing the use of draft picks for trade bait probably would encourage more trading.

Few of the other items on the agenda can be termed exciting or of great interest to the fans, and none of them can compare in importance to the one item not listed but certain to be discussed — the Curt Flood court case.

Although no action is expected to be taken by the owners, they will talk about it, even if only informally.

On the agenda is an updated report by the planning committee on the proposed reorganization of the administrative offices of baseball—a plan to put the offices of the commissioner and the American and National leagues and the minor leagues under one roof in New York.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn already has come out in favor of the plan, and the minor leagues passed a resolution back in 1963 favoring it. It was presented at the major league winter meetings, but it wasn't certain that any action would be taken there.

The National League office presently is in San Francisco, the American in Boston.

Discussion also will be held on appropriation proposals to Canadian amateur baseball and summer leagues in the United States, adjusting the rules involving the replacing of players called to temporary military duty and injured players, promotion of baseball and umpire development.

A proposal also is expected to schedule exhibition games, starting in 1971, with the three major service academies and the National Collegiate Athletic Association champion each year, and, on the lighter side, changing the color of the foul lines and the bases from the traditional white.

Flat Rock Wins; Smith Mound Ace

Last Night's Results
Flat Rock 4, Gladstone 1, (Protest Game)
Flat Rock 5, Gladstone 1
Jolly Roger 5, Michigan Hotel 6

Games Tonight
7:00 - Jolly Roger vs. Escanaba Merchants
8:30 - Gladstone vs. Independents

Bill Smith continued his winning ways Monday night in the Escanaba Senior Softball Circuit as he handcuffed the Gladstone Merchants on two hits, as Flat Rock defeated the Merchants 5-1 in a regular season game and then preserved the team's victory in the protest game in which Flat Rock won 4-1. In the only other game played last night, Jolly Roger nipped the Michigan Hotel 5-6.

Lombardi Enters Hospital Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington Redskins coach Vince Lombardi was said to be resting comfortably at Georgetown University Hospital today after undergoing surgery for the second time in a month.

Hospital and team officials would not disclose the nature of the operation Monday, performed only hours after Lombardi was admitted for what was termed a routine check-up.

Lombardi, 57, had been recuperating from a June 27 operation in which a tumor and two-foot section of his colon were removed. The tumor was reported as non-malignant.

The coach had watched a rookie scrimmage Sunday in Baltimore between the Colts and his Redskins, and said he expected to make it to the team's Carlisle, Pa., training camp by the time the veterans reported.

Veterans throughout the National Football League are holding out over a pension dispute.

In going the distance, Smith fanned eight and allowed only two hits, while Cliff Young was saddled with the defeat for Gladstone.

Flat Rock took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bill Plouff singled and scored on a single by Ray Hughes. Tom Pinar had the key hit for Flat Rock in the sixth inning when he hit a two-run homer over the right field fence that tied the game for the Flat Rock nine.

Michigan Hotel jumped off to an early 4-0 lead in their game against Jolly Roger, but could not stop the running of the Jolly Roger nine and went down to defeat.

Jug Boudreau snared the mound victory while Jack Picard took the defeat for the Hotelmen.

Trailing 6-4 going into the last of the fifth, Jolly Roger grabbed the lead for the first time when Dennis Boudreau walked, Doot Lancour singled and Rich Kuchenberg lined a triple to center and scored on an error. Jolly Roger rounded out the scoring in the sixth by scoring two more runs.

Golf Match

The Gladstone Men's Par-Mutual Golf Match will be held at 5 p.m. Wednesday at the Gladstone Golf Club. During the match on the No. 5 hole, brutwurst and libation will be served by two of Gladstone's famous chefs, Larry Cantin and John Gilbert, who have come out of retirement for this occasion.

Sports In Brief

Southern Cal's 2-1 victory in 15 innings over Florida State in the NCAA World Series is reminiscent of Michigan's title in 1962. That year, Michigan downed Santa Clara 5-4 in a marathon 15 innings.

Little Progress In NFL Dispute

Exhibition Season Only 11 Days Away

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League exhibition season is only 11 days away and there is no sign that either the club owners or the Players Association is ready to give in the stalemated pension dispute.

The owners' negotiating committee and the association representatives met under the watchful eye of federal mediators four hours Monday. If there was any progress it wasn't evident on the grim faces of the participants.

Talks Continued

They'll start their fifth day of talks in the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service today at 2 p.m. The morning will be spent with subcommittees trying to unravel the technical problems involved.

Watching the small-like pace of the negotiations sort of reminds one of that old historic statement that while Nero fiddled Rome burned. While the negotiators doodle behind closed doors the exhibition season may be burning. The Cleveland Browns are scheduled to meet the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles Aug. 7. Nine games are slated for Aug. 8.

The owners have a few choices in the matter. They can cancel the games of the dispute over pensions and other fringe benefits isn't resolved. Or they can play the games with rookies and free agents. They have a third choice—open the doors of their training camps and see how many veterans will defy the association and report.

Work Stoppage

As matters now stand the association has directed its players to stay away from camp until an agreement is reached.

The owners say the camps are closed to veterans until the contract is settled. In case you are wondering if it's a strike or lockout, it's neither, according to mediators. It's a work stoppage.

The association and the owners are $8 million apart on a four year pension package. The owners have offered $18 million and the players are holding out for $26 million. Breaking it down to simple terms, the argument is over how much retirement pay Joe Namath, Johnny Unitas, Joe Kapp, John Mackey and the rest of the 1300 players will get in the year 2000.

A partial survey on how the teams are thinking about what to do with the exhibition games if the impasse continues showed these results:

Lions Await Decision

Detroit Lions—Have no idea at all on what to do. There has been no thought of using rookies. Decisions are being made on a day-to-day basis. Will do what the league decides to do.

New York Giants—Discussed shutting down workouts, but decided instead to cut them in half to 45 minutes on day to day basis. They have 17 players in camp. Can't start even a good touch football game with those numbers.

Cleveland Browns and Cincinnati Bengals—Both closed camp from Friday night to Sunday night, although workouts generally not scheduled on Sunday anyway.

Washington Redskins—As of this date intends to go along as planned. They're starting to get ready for Aug. 8 game with Cincinnati. Spokesman said coaching staff hasn't indicated what the latest reporting date can be in order to play the game. Spokesman refused to say whether they will go with rookies, saying it hasn't been discussed.

San Diego Chargers—Spokesman says still hopeful situation will be resolved soon so they can play with veterans. Refuses to say what they'll do if stoppage continues.

Won't Play Without Veterans

Philadelphia Eagles—General manager Pete Retzlaff says Eagles won't play exhibition games without veterans. He feels owners may call off their lock out and see how many vets will report. If not, then Retzlaff feels there is a chance they may call off the whole season. He claims several Eagles' veterans already have telephoned they would report if the camp was opened.

San Diego — Chiefs working for All-Star game Friday night with veterans in camp under special permission from association and owners. They're supposed to leave camp after the All-Star game if the dispute isn't settled. Spokesman for team says won't worry about anything else until it's All-Star game over. Will not state plans until Saturday or Sunday.

Danver Broncos — Spokesman says decision on exhibition games up to the league.

Packers Will Be Ready

Green Bay Packers—Veteran players claim they can be ready for their first game with only three days of workouts.

The best bet, if the negotiators don't step up their pace or come to some agreement — or final disagreement—is that the owners will challenge the association's strength by opening up their camps to veterans, and see how many defy the NFLPA.

John Mackey, president of the Association, who has missed several negotiating sessions, showed up again Monday afternoon. Ernie Wright of Oakland and Ken Bowman of Green Bay are the other players on the committee. Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys; Ray Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills; and Rankin Smith, owner of the Atlanta Falcons, are the owners' negotiators. Both sides have ample legal, labor and pension consultants.

Baseball Conference May Hold Surprises

MONTREAL (AP) — Major league baseball owners opened their annual summer meeting today and were believed ready to make "traded for a future draft choice" part of their language.

Niekro Faces Royals Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' Joe Niekro will be working on pitching victory No. 11 tonight as the Tigers take on the Kansas City Royals in the first of a three-game stand at Tiger Stadium.

Niekro (10-8) will be throwing against the Royals' Dick Drago (6-8).

But Niekro is looking beyond victory No. 11 to his twentieth win of the season.

"If I keep starting every fourth day, I believe I've got a shot at it," he said. The Bengals' other pitchers hoping for 20-game seasons are Mickey Lolich (9-12) and Les Cain (9-3).

"I'd settle for 13 or 14 (wins) if that would be enough to get in the World Series," the 25-year-old righthander said. "But I don't think it will be. So I'll take as many wins as I can get."

The Tigers will be looking to close the six-game gap between them and the Baltimore Orioles, who lead the American League East, as they meet the Royals. Baltimore, meanwhile, will be hosting the Chicago White Sox.

While most of the Tigers relaxed on their off day Monday pitcher Denny McLain and his wife, the former Shyrin Boudreau, watched Shyrin's father, Lou Boudreau, formally inducted in baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Games Tonight
7:00 - Jolly Roger vs. Escanaba Merchants
8:30 - Gladstone vs. Independents

Bill Smith continued his winning ways Monday night in the Escanaba Senior Softball Circuit as he handcuffed the Gladstone Merchants on two hits, as Flat Rock defeated the Merchants 5-1 in a regular season game and then preserved the team's victory in the protest game in which Flat Rock won 4-1. In the only other game played last night, Jolly Roger nipped the Michigan Hotel 9-6.

In going the distance, Smith fanned eight and allowed only two hits, while Cliff Young was saddled with the defeat for Gladstone.

Flat Rock took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bill Plouff singled and scored on a single by Ray Hughes. Tom Pinar had the key hit for Flat Rock in the sixth inning when he hit a two-run homer over the right field fence that iced the game for the Flat Rock nine.

Michigan Hotel jumped off to an early 4-0 lead in their game against Jolly Roger, but could not stop the running of the Jolly Roger nine and went down to defeat.

Jug Boudreau snared the mound victory while Jack Pinar took the defeat for the Hotelmen.

Trailing 6-4 going into the last of the fifth, Jolly Roger grabbed the lead for the first time when Dennis Boudreau walked, Doot Lancour singled and Rich Kuennenberg lined a triple to center and scored on an error. Jolly Roger rounded out the scoring in the sixth by scoring two more runs.

Lombardi Enters Hospital Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington Redskins football Coach Vince Lombardi was said to be resting comfortably at Georgetown University Hospital today after undergoing surgery for the second time in a month.

Hospital and team officials would not disclose the nature of the operation Monday, performed only hours after Lombardi was admitted for what was termed a routine check-up.

Lombardi, 57, had been recuperating from a June 27 operation in which a tumor and two-foot section of his colon were removed. The tumor was reported as non-malignant.

The coach had watched a rookie scrimmage Sunday in Baltimore between the Colts and his Redskins, and said he expected to make it to the team's Carlisle, Pa., training camp by the time the veterans reported.

Veterans throughout the National Football League are holding out over a pension dispute.

Golf Match

The Gladstone Men's Par-Mutual Golf Match will be held at 5 p.m. Wednesday at the Gladstone Golf Club. During the match on the No. 5 hole, bratwurst and libation will be served by two of Gladstone's famous chefs, Larry Cantin and John Gilbert, who have come out of retirement for this occasion.

Sports In Brief

Southern Cal's 2-1 victory in 15 innings over Florida State in the NCAA World Series is reminiscent of Michigan's title in 1962. That year, Michigan downed Santa Clara 5-4 in a marathon 15 innings.

Bankers Topple Mead; Fassbender Hurls One-Hitter

The Bankers didn't have many hits—four, to be exact—but 14 runs came across the plate as the club blanked Mead, 14-0, in Babe Ruth League action Monday night.

Dave Fassbender kept Mead in check all the way, allowing only one hit in picking up the mound victory. He struck out seven and walked six men in the game.

Fassbender bore down in the pinches and only three Mead runners reached second base. Lance Collins had the lone hit for the losers, a single in the fourth inning.

Jim Koehler was tagged with the loss. He was relieved in the second inning by Mike Sankovich.

Grid Candidates Asked To Report

All Holy Name High School football candidates are asked to report to the principal's office at the school between 1 and 4 p.m. Wednesday to pick up some important material.

Fame Game

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Ron Brand hit his first home run since 1965 and Bobby Wine also homered for the winning Montreal Expos in a 10-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday in the Hall of Fame exhibition game at Doubleday Field.

Most of the crowd that watched morning induction of the four new members of the Hall of Fame — Lou Boudreau, Ford Frick, Jesse Haines and Earle Combs — was among the capacity throng of 9,791 at the afternoon game.

The Expos clobbered loser Jim Magnuson, Jerry Janeski and Barry Moore for 14 hits while winner John O'Donoghue and Bill Stoneman allowed 12 hits.

Both managers, Gene Mauch of the Expos and Don Gutierrez of the White Sox, substituted freely after the first five innings.

The victory cut the American League's edge in the series to 15-12-1.

Philadelphia bombed Los Angeles 10-3 in the only other National League game while, in American League play, Minnesota trimmed Baltimore 5-2 and the New York Yankees downed California 5-2 in 10 innings.

Seaver fell behind 3-0 before Joe Foy's two-run homer in the second inning and a solo blast by Cleon Jones in the fourth pulled the Mets even. Then, he scored the go-ahead run on Ken Singletown's fifth inning single off 14-game winner Gaylord Perry and throttled San Francisco the rest of the way.

"I pitched well with what I had," said the Met ace, who finished with a six-hitter and struck out six, fanning Willie Mays for the third time to snuff out a seventh-inning threat. "It was a tough night, muggy and hot, and I really had to struggle."

"I was just plain lousy," muttered Merritt after his fourth-inning knockout at the hot hands of the previously ice-cold Cards. "You've just got to forget about it. There'll be a lot of other games."

Richie Allen blasted his 28th and 29th homers, driving in three runs; Mike Shannon delivered four more with a bases-loaded double and a single, and Vic Davallito lashed three doubles, good for two RBI, as the Cardinals erupted for 19 hits—their high for the season.

St. Louis shrugged off a five-run Cincinnati burst—capped by Johnny Bench's 34th homer—in the second inning on the way to only its third victory in 20 games. Reliever Chuck Taylor blanked the Reds from the third inning until the ninth, when Bernie Carbo hit a three-run homer, to earn the victory.

Tony Taylor, Deron Johnson and Larry Hise clubbed homers and Byron Browne knocked in three runs with a double and single, leading the resurgent Phillies past Los Angeles for their 10th victory in 12 starts.

The Twins earned a split of their four-game summit series with Baltimore and increased their AL West lead,

Little Progress In NFL Dispute

Exhibition Season Only 11 Days Away

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League exhibition season is only 11 days away and there is no sign that either the club owners or the Players Association is ready to give in the stalemated pension dispute.

The owners' negotiating committee and the association representatives met under the watchful eye of federal mediators four hours Monday. If there was any progress it wasn't evident on the grim faces of the participants.

They'll start their fifth day of talks in the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service today at 2 p.m. The morning will be spent with subcommittees trying to unravel the technical problems involved.

Watching the snail-like pace of the negotiations sort of reminds one of that old historic statement that while Nero fiddled Rome burned. While the negotiators doodle behind closed doors the exhibition season may be burning. The Cleveland Browns are scheduled to meet the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles Aug. 7. Nine games are slated for Aug. 8.

The owners have a few choices in the matter. They can cancel the games if the dispute over pensions and other fringe benefits isn't resolved. Or they can play the games with rookies and free agents. They have a third choice—open the doors of their training camps and see how many veterans will defy the association and report.

Work Stoppage
As matters now stand the association has directed its players to stay away from camp until an agreement is reached. The owners say the camps are closed to veterans until the contract is settled. In case you are wondering if it's a strike or lockout, it's neither, according to mediators. It's a work stoppage.

The association and the owners are $8 million apart on a four year pension package. The owners have offered $18 million and the players are holding out for $26 million. Breaking it down to simple terms, the argument is over how much retirement pay Joe Namath, Johnny Unitas, Joe Kapp, John Mackey and the rest of the 1,300 players will get in the year 2,000.

A partial survey on how the teams are thinking about what to do with the exhibition games if the impasse continues showed these results:

Lions Await Decision
Detroit Lions—Have no idea at all on what to do. There has been no thought of using rookies. Decisions are being made on a day-to-day basis. Will do what the league decides to do.

New York Giants—Discussed shutting down workouts, but decided instead to cut them in half to 45 minutes on day to day basis. They have 17 players in camp. Can't start even a good touch football game with those numbers.

Cleveland Browns and Cincinnati Bengals—Both closed camp from Friday night to Sunday night, although workouts generally not scheduled on Sunday anyway.

Washington Redskins—As of this date intends to go along as planned. They're starting to get ready for Aug. 8 game with Cincinnati. Spokesman said coaching staff hasn't indicated what the latest reporting date can be in order to play the game.

Spokesman refused to say whether he will go with rookies, saying it hasn't been discussed.

San Diego Chargers—Spokesman says still hopeful situation will be resolved soon so they can play with veterans. Refuses to say what they'll do if stoppage continues.

Won't Play Without Veterans
Philadelphia Eagles—General manager Pete Retzlaff says Eagles won't play exhibition games without veterans. He feels owners may call off their lock out and see how many vets will report. If not, then Retzlaff feels there is a chance they may call off the whole season. He claims several Eagles' veterans already have telephoned they would report if the camp was opened.

San Diego — Chiefs working for All-Star game Friday night with veterans in camp under special permission from association and owners. They're supposed to leave camp after the All-Star game if the dispute isn't settled. Spokesman for team says won't worry about anything else until it's (All-Star game) over. Will not state plans until Saturday or Sunday.

Denver Broncos—Spokesman says decision on exhibition games up to the league.

Packers Will Be Ready
Green Bay Packers—Veteran players claim they can be ready for their first game with only three days of workouts.

The best bet, if the negotiators don't step up their pace or come to some agreement — or final disagreement—is that the owners will challenge the association's strength by opening up their camps to veterans, and see how many defy the NFLPA.

John Mackey, president of the Association, who has missed several negotiating sessions, showed up again Monday afternoon. Ernie Wright of Cincinnati and Ken Bowman of Green Bay are the other players on the committee. Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys; Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills, and Rankin Smith, owner of the Atlanta Falcons, are the owners' negotiators. Both sides have ample legal, labor and pension consultants.

Chemical Firms Target Of Suits By Fishermen

DETROIT (AP) — Two commercial fishermen and a fish marketing firm have filed law suits seeking $21.5 million in damages from Wyandotte Chemicals Corp. and Dow Chemical of Canada for alleged pollution of fishing waters in southeastern Michigan.

The Mack Avenue Fish Co. of Detroit and Frederick and Howard Peterson, two Monroe brothers in the commercial fishing business in Lake Erie, filed the suits Monday in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The chemical firms are charged with knowingly dumping caustic soda, mercury and chlorine into waterways, making it impossible to catch and sell fish. The brothers allege the chemicals were dumped into the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers, and eventually the pollutants affected Lakes Erie, St. Clair and Huron.

Gov. William Milliken has issued an executive order banning all fishing in Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers and in the southern tip of Lake Huron and the western end of Lake Erie, except on a "catch and release" basis. The ban followed announcements from health officials that mercury pollution might be at dangerous levels.

Stanley S. Schwartz of Detroit, the fishermen's lawyer, said the fish marketing business employed 15 persons before the fishing ban, but it has since been "considering closing down entirely." He said the company is down to three employees.

Frederick Peterson is a member of the governor's special task force studying possible compensation for businesses affected by the angling ban.

Mrs. Ray Kasbohm of Whitnieton retired from Pinecrest Medicare facilities after serving eight years in the food service department.

She was honored by her co-workers at a dinner party at the Dells Supper Club on Thursday, July 23. Among the presentations was a corsage and a pendant watch from her friends.

Jack Nelson was released from the Veterans Hospital in Iron Mountain where he underwent surgery. He is recuperating at the home of his father, Ben Nelson.

Rotary Pleased With Results Of Recent Auction

The Rotary-supported scholarship funds and youth programs will be enriched $900-$1000 from proceeds of a very successful auction Sunday afternoon.

Rotary President Wallace Leggett said the Rotarians were very pleased with the turnout for the auction and the support from the townspeople and tourists. "Things sold well but this couldn't have happened without the community support the club received," Leggett stated.

Leggett said the Rotarians received items donated by residents, plus many from local merchants. Iron Mountain auctioneer Joseph Van Remortere handled the bidding with the auction held on the high school lawn. The selling began at 1 and ended at 6 p.m.

Leggett said he hoped the auction could be an annual project for the local club.

Court Rejects Suit By Firm In Road Hassle

LANSING (AP) — The State Court of Claims has rejected a contention by Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom that it is owed an extra $1.25 million for construction in a project dating back to 1960, reports the State Highway Department.

The suit, filed in 1963, dealt with a $3.67 million contract signed June 1, 1960 for construction of a near eight-mile stretch of 94 freeway in Berrien County.

Circuit Judge Richard Robinson of Eaton County, sitting as the Claims Court Judge, also ruled the Highway Department could recover $121,026 already paid to Holloway for construction on the same project.

At issue was alleged failure by the contractor to complete the rough grading by a Dec. 10, 1960, deadline.

Holloway blamed the delay on failure by the Highway Department to make available a borrow pit near the project from which the contractor could excavate earth for the highway.

The owner of the pit refused to sell it to the department. The Highway Department staked a condemnation suit but then obtained other pits nearby when it became apparent the suit could mean a lengthy delay in the project.

The company said the substitute pits required longer hauls to the project and required it to build a hauling road.

The court supported the department position that Holloway would have had to build the hauling road even if the original pit were available since the first pit did not contain enough material to complete the project.

Refusal by the company to use one of the substitute pits during efforts to obtain the original pit also contributed to the delay, he judge said.

UAW Aide Asking Municipal Law For Motor City

DETROIT (AP) — Douglas Fraser, a United Auto Workers Union vice president, has called for a basic municipal law in Detroit that "frees its policymakers from the burden of dealing with unbelievable turmoil and is flexible enough to allow the city to respond quickly to its changing responsibilities."

Detroit's city charter is "archaic, ineffective and a substantial bar to progress," the UAW executive said Monday.

The UAW has endorsed a proposal on the Aug. 4 primary ballot to revise the 37-year-old charter.

Probation Term Ends For Kennedy

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has ended his year of probation for leaving the scene of the Mary Jo Kopechne accident.

Kennedy, 38, was released from probation Saturday. The probation, and a two month suspended sentence, was given Kennedy last July 25 following the death of Miss Kopechne, 28, a Washington secretary.

Miss Kopechne drowned when Kennedy's car plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island.

Kennedy, whose driver's license was suspended during the probationary period, now is eligible to reapply. If he chooses to do so, he must pass an oral examination, eye test and road test.

MECHANIZED WATER BUFFALO — The growing prosperity of farmers in South Vietnam's pacified areas is evident as this Mekong Delta farmer uses his modern Japanese-made tractor to till rice field for planting. Usually several villagers pool their money to buy the tractor — taking advantage of low import duties — and share it. The machine is becoming a common sight in South Vietnam. (AP Wire-photo)

Woman Agrees To Conspiracy Case Transfer

FORT DODGE, Iowa (AP)—Linda Sue Evans, 23, of Fort Dodge, waived a removal hearing and agreed Monday to accept transfer to Michigan to face bombing conspiracy charges. Miss Evans is one of 13 members of the militant Weatherprint dress.

Miss Evans appeared briefly before U.S. Commissioner Francis Tierney for a removal hearing. She signed the waiver four minutes after the hearing opened.

She then was returned to the Webster County Jail, where she has been held since her arrest here Thursday night by FBI agents. U. S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow of Detroit set bond for her at $75,000.

Her attorney, Don Kersten of Fort Dodge, said he would apply to U. S. District Judge William C. Hanson Tuesday for a reduction of bail.

Appearing in court with her were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Fort Dodge. Miss Evans had been arrested previously on an indictment growing out of the Weatherman "Days of Rage" last Oct. 8-11 in Chicago. She was freed on $75,000 bond on that charge with the stipulation that she remain at her parents' home here pending trial.

Burns To Death

DETROIT (AP)—Alinda Hill, an 18-month-old Detroit girl was burned to death in a fire in a car parked at a department store Monday.

Police were investigating the cause of the blaze. Two boys, age 3 and 5, were in the car, but escaped unharmed, police said. The child's mother, Mrs. Arunda Hill, was in the department store at the time.

Environmental Law Is Praised By Professor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The man who drafted the environmental protection act signed into law by Gov. William Milliken Monday said it may be the first step in developing "a common law of environment."

Joseph L. Sax, a professor of law at the University of Michigan, said the "Environmental Protection Act of 1970" for the first time "authorizes the courts to look directly at what we might call the environmental merits controversy."

He noted "public agencies traditionally have sometimes delayed or hesitated to open the way to resolution of important environmental issues."

Sax, who also drafted the national Environmental Act introduced in Congress last January, said he hopes Michigan's new statute will effectively open the way for private citizens to force business industry and government to clean up the atmosphere.

However, he added that citizens and administrative agencies have been lax in using environmental laws which are already on the books.

"We have not been supporting our administrative agencies with adequate appropriations," Sax said. "One of the serious problems we have is that what we have now is not being enforced adequately. Just as this will open some leverage for private citizens, we also need to open some real leverage for our administrators."

The effectiveness of the new law, Sax said, will depend "very heavily" on "the ability of Michigan citizens to organize themselves to make use of it... to mobilize the kind of professional resources that are needed to make a bill like this successful."

MECHANIZED WATER BUFFALO — The growing prosperity of farmers in South Vietnam's pacified areas is evident as this Mekong Delta farmer uses his modern Japanese-made tractor to till rice field for planting. Usually several villagers pool their money to buy the tractor — taking advantage of low import duties — and share it. The machine is becoming a common sight in South Vietnam. (AP Wire-photo)

Woman Agrees To Conspiracy Case Transfer

FORT DODGE, Iowa (AP)—Linda Sue Evans, 23, of Fort Dodge, waived a removal hearing and agreed Monday to accept transfer to Michigan to face bombing conspiracy charges.

Miss Evans is one of 13 members of the militant Weatherman organization indicted by a federal grand jury in Detroit Thursday. She is charged with conspiring to commit bombings in New York, Chicago, Detroit and Berkeley, Calif.

She then was returned to the Webster County Jail, where she has been held since her arrest here Thursday night by FBI agents. U. S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow of Detroit set bond for her at $75,000.

Her attorney, Don Kersten of Fort Dodge, said he would apply to U. S. District Judge William C. Hanson Tuesday for a reduction of bail.

Appearing in court with her were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Fort Dodge.

Miss Evans had been arrested previously on an indictment growing out of the Weatherman "Days of Rage" last Oct. 8-11 in Chicago. She was freed on $75,000 bond on that charge with the stipulation that she remain at her parents' home here pending trial.

Environmental Law Is Praised By Professor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The man who drafted the environmental protection act signed into law by Gov. William Milliken Monday said it may be the first step in developing "a common law of environment."

Joseph L. Sax, a professor of law at the University of Michigan, said the "Environmental Protection Act of 1970" for the first time "authorizes the courts to look directly at what we might call the environmental merits controversy."

He noted "public agencies traditionally have sometimes delayed or hesitated to open the way to resolution of important environmental issues."

Sax, who also drafted the national Environmental Act introduced in Congress last January, said he hopes Michigan's new statute will effectively open the way for private citizens to force business, industry and government to clean up the atmosphere.

However, he added that citizens and administrative agencies have been lax in using environmental laws which are already on the books.

"We have not been supporting our administrative agencies with adequate appropriations," Sax said. "One of the serious problems we have is that what we have now is not being enforced adequately. Just as this bill opens some leverage for private citizens, we also need to open some real leverage for our administrators."

The effectiveness of the new law, Sax said, will depend "very heavily" on "the ability of Michigan citizens to organize themselves to make use of it... to mobilize the kind of professional resources that are needed to make a bill like this successful."
